

Enthusiastic Welcome In New York For Italian Minister

PEACE COMMON GOAL, GRANDI SAYS IN SPEECH

Mayor Walker Pins City's Medal on Breast of Distinguished Visitor

BULLETIN
Philadelphia, (AP)—Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, fresh from his official welcome in New York, arrived in Philadelphia at 1:45 p. m. today for an overnight stay.

New York—(AP)—Declaring that Italy and America are joined in the cause of world peace, Italian Foreign Minister Dino Grandi paid a brief visit to New York today and was accorded a hearty public and official welcome.

Coming from Washington where for several days he had been considering matters of world welfare with President Hoover, Grandi was brought to the Battery from the Jersey shore on the welcoming tug Macoma as harbor craft saluted him with screaming sirens.

Dressed in formal morning attire and in high good spirits the youthful black-bearded diplomat climbed to the Macoma's pilot house and personally returned the vociferous salutes, grinning boyishly as he pulled at the landward of the Macoma's stern.

The Italian visitor reached New York before 9 o'clock and the crowds along Broadway, outside of office hurrying to their tasks, were small but friendly. Several thousand were gathered at city hall, however, and when Grandi appeared on a balcony to fling his hand in the Fascist salute hundreds of hands rose from the throng in answering salutation, and the cheers were punctuated with enthusiastic cries of "Viva Dino."

Welcomed by Mayor
Mayor James J. Walker delivered a welcoming address and pinned the medal of the city of New York on the visitor's breast. Grandi replied with a speech in which he said the flags of Italy and the United States were joined in the cause of peace and the solidarity of nations.

Returning to the Battery along a 'broadway already cleaned of the paper snowstorm which had fallen in his honor on his arrival Grandi left New York just two hours after he came here. The Macoma took him back across the foggy harbor to Jersey City to proceed on to Philadelphia where he was to be rejoined by Signora Grandi.

Hundreds of police had been assigned to special duty because of warnings that there might be some demonstration by anti-Fascist groups but the whole ceremony of welcome, both popular and official, passed off without the slightest sign of disturbance.

Grandi arrived in America last Monday but was taken to Washington direct without coming to New York. After visits to Philadelphia and Baltimore he will return here on Monday for a round of receptions lasting until he sails for Italy next Friday.

Lindy Off To Blaze New Mail Route

Miami, Fla.—(AP)—Carrying passengers and mail over a new Caribbean route to Cristobal, Canal Zone, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off at 11:13 a. m., eastern standard time in the giant Pan-American amphibian, the American Clipper.

Two hours to the south, across the Florida straits, the first landing will be made at Cienfuegos, Cuba, where Cuban mail for South America and Central America will be taken aboard. Lunch will be served at Cienfuegos.

From the Cuban City, a seven hour water jump over the Caribbean will bring the huge plane into Kingston, capital of Jamaica. Arrival there is expected to be made after midnight. The party will spend the night there, taking off at 8 o'clock a. m. tomorrow for a seven hour hop to Barranquilla, Colombia.

At Barranquilla, Colonel Lindbergh will leave the plane for a four day business visit, rejoining the American Clipper at Cristobal for the return flight to Miami.

After a delay caused by a broken starting motor, Colonel Lindbergh, with Basil Rowe as co-pilot, taxied the big plane out into Biscayne bay at 11:35.

After a run of about a mile, the American Clipper rose with its heavy load of 33 passengers, five crew members and 234 pounds of mail, made a gentle curve and was away southward.

Before departing, Colonel Lindbergh expressed pleasure at the way the plane handled. He said he himself was feeling fine and he anticipated an enjoyable journey into the tropics.

Among the passengers was Igor Sikorsky, designer of the craft.

SCORES FRAUDULENT TRADE PRACTICES

R. M. Orchard, Madison, Delivers Address to Advertising Club

Fraudulent advertising and unfair trade practices were discussed by R. M. Orchard of the department of agriculture and markets at the meeting of the Appleton Advertising club at the Conway hotel Thursday noon. The speaker cited a number of unethical advertising methods such as exaggeration and the misuse of comparative prices, and told how his department investigates and prosecutes these cases.

Herb Hellig of the Appleton Vocational school spoke briefly about a proposed course in advertising layouts and copywriting. A committee made up of C. E. Waters, J. E. Murphy and Wayne Jones was appointed to confer with the Vocational school officials about the course.

Twenty-five persons attended the meeting.

WET WEATHER AFFECTS ATTENDANCE AT CLINIC

The steady drizzle of rain all morning had its effect on the monthly baby clinic held from 9 until 12 at the Appleton Woman's club today. However, despite the wet and dreary morning, 12 mothers braved the weather to bring their babies for examination. Dr. D. M. Gallagher and Dr. R. V. Landis were in charge of the examinations assisted by Miss Ellen Buckland, Mrs. J. C. Stillman, Mrs. Sophia Schaefer, Mrs. Otto Fischer, Mrs. Arthur Zwickel, Mrs. A. G. Meating was in charge of the clinic. Last month the clinic examined a record number of children, 32.

POULTRY PRICES TO BE LOWER THIS YEAR

Appleton Market Men Also Find Fowls Are of Better Grade

Poultry prices for Thanksgiving will be lower this year than last year, according to Appleton Retail Market Men's association. Turkey prices will be about the same, but geese, ducks and chickens will sell at about two cents a pound lower for top grades.

Poultry this year is in better condition than ever before, the market men say. Because feeds have been bringing low prices on the market, farmers have been supplying their poultry with more and better food, rather than selling it. The condition has brought about much better fowls.

ED SHANNON TO ATTEND IZAAK WALTON MEETING

Ed Shannon, one of the state officers of the Izaak Walton League, will attend a meeting of directors of the Wisconsin division of the Izaak Walton league at Eske Lodge, near Stevens Point, Saturday and Sunday.

Jeddu Krishnamurti Puts Aside Robes Of Messiah To Preach His Own Creed

Los Angeles—(AP)—Jeddu Krishnamurti, young Hindu philosopher once regarded by thousands of followers as the reincarnation of Christ, has cast aside the Messiahic mantle put upon him by the noted theosophist, Mrs. Annie Besant.

For years hailed as the Messiah, the philosopher, in a copyrighted story in the Los Angeles Examiner, today revealed his break with the International Theosophist organization.

They called me the Christ," he said, "but Christ is potential in all. Furthermore, I am no actor. I refused to wear the robes of a Messiah, so I am again free of all possessions. I have nothing except my creed."

Krishnamurti stated he had returned to their original owners the Castle Esque at Ojai, Calif., and "homes, land and chattels that were forced upon me by well meaning friends."

The philosopher was reported today to be in Ojai, a little mountain town north of Los Angeles. He said he planned to hold meetings there to preach his creed and "to reflect in a mirror."

In years past, Krishnamurti had held meetings at Ojai around a large camp fire at night. The gatherings were attended by Theosophists from the world over who came to hear the "second Messiah."

Krishnamurti charged that Mrs. Besant, now reported ill on a visit to India, with attempting to dramatize Theosophy, but not consciously.

"She came to me when I was a boy of 14," he said. "I was raised in the beliefs of Theosophy. She told me she found me to be the personification of Christ—the Christ I believed I was. Now that I know I am no more the Christ than you."

"Hereafter, 'no one shall call me 'master.' I am free to do my own thinking and to live my own life. And I am happier than I have ever been."

DEER CREEK BOY TO ATTEND CLUB CONGRESS

Harold Schultz, junior leader of the Kerner 4-H club, town of Deer Creek, has been chosen to attend the National 4-H club congress at Chicago from Nov. 23 to Dec. 4. His expenses will be paid by the state department of agriculture.

Outagamie-co. was given the opportunity to name a delegate to attend the national congress at state expense. Schultz was chosen, according to Gus Sell, county agent, for general excellence in his work. Mr. Sell said he is one of the outstanding junior leaders of the county.

Outagamie-co. will now have two representatives at the national congress at state expense. Last week it was announced that Miss Harriet Thompson, county home demonstration agent, was chosen as one of two workers in the state to attend the congress at state expense and have charge of the 50 Wisconsin boys and girls there.

EXTINGUISH BLAZE IN OSHKOSH TRUCK

VINCENT GIVES STAND ON U. S. WELFARE WORK

Standards Must Be Upheld, Head of Rockefeller Foundation Says

Answering a question whether communities this winter should curtail preventative and constructive social welfare work in favor of direct relief in terms of food, clothing and shelter, Dr. George E. Vincent, president emeritus of the Rockefeller Foundation, has issued a statement in which he declares that "America will be in no position to claim victory at the end of the depression merely because nobody has died of cold and starvation."

His question was put to Dr. Vincent on behalf of civic leaders and public officials throughout the country by the Association of Community Chests and Councils, which is cooperating with the President's Organization of Unemployment Relief headed by Walter S. Gifford.

Dr. Vincent's statement which was received here yesterday by F. N. Belanger, president of the valley council of boy scouts follows:

"There is an ancient Greek saying: 'Cities were founded that men might live well.' America has sought to realize this ideal in many ways. The city community has been more and more clearly seen as a place in which individuals and families should be able to live more vigorous, more satisfying, happier lives. We have set for ourselves a higher standard than any of the nations."

"American cities seek to extend to all citizens opportunities for health, recreation, education, social intercourse, enjoyment of beauty, and the development of character. To do this agencies, public and private, have been created. Gradually they have built up a remarkable system of clinics, health centers, visiting nurses, hospitals, societies for family care, social settlements, gymnasiums, playgrounds, public baths, clubs for adults, for young people, for boys and girls, libraries, schools, evening classes, art galleries, museums, public concerts. Large numbers of trained and experienced people are devoting their lives to the carrying on of these activities."

"At a time when special appeals are being made for emergency relief, it is vitally important not to withdraw support from the fundamental and permanent social services. To fail them now would be to lower American standards, to sacrifice the future to the present, to undermine hope and courage just when they need to be reinforced. Emergency relief must be a temporary addition to the community's budget, public and private, not a substitution for established obligations."

GERMAN CLUB PLANS EXHIBIT OF POSTERS

Appleton High School Students Also Arrange Christmas Party

The German club of Appleton high school will hold an exhibition of posters dealing with German life and customs on Tuesday, Dec. 1, in the club rooms.

"Everything's Ship-shape, Sir!"

The old ship Constitution looked just as she did 51 years ago to Thomas Clinton, 74, when he revisited the reconditioned frigate on which he once served as gun captain. He's seen here, right, shaking hands with Commander L. J. Gulliver, present captain of the Constitution, aboard the vessel in Washington. Clinton is one of the few surviving members of the last crew which manned the Constitution before the ship was laid up in Boston to rot, and later to be rescued by the pennies of American school children.

307 Graduates In Senior High School This Year

Appleton high school will graduate 60 more students in June, 1932, than in 1931 and approximately 160 out of the 307 graduating students plan to continue their education according to the data gathered by Principal Herbert H. Helble in his recent conferences with each member of the senior class.

General statistics show that 323 students are enrolled in the class of 1932, most of whom will receive their diplomas in June and 16 of whom will graduate in August after a session of summer school. One hundred and twenty-two seniors are preparing for college work; 85 are enrolled in the general course; 67 seniors are majoring in business in the commercial department; 42 are studying manual arts while nine seniors are majoring in home arts.

STATE INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS GROUP TO GATHER AT MADISON

Dr. H. E. Peabody is Chairman of Interdenominational Committee

The Interdenominational Industrial Relations committee of Wisconsin, of which Dr. H. E. Peabody of this city is chairman, will meet at the First Congregational church at Madison Monday, Dr. Peabody, who has been chairman since the organization of the committee 12 years ago will preside at the morning session.

Local members of the committee are F. J. Harwood, Gustave Keller, Sr., of this city and F. S. Shattuck of Neenah.

The unemployment situation will be the chief subject of discussion. Arthur Altmeyer, Madison, secretary of the state industrial commission, will speak on What Unemployment Wisconsin Is Experiencing, and Aubrey Williams, Madison, secretary of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, will discuss the subject, Unemployment Relief in Wisconsin.

At the luncheon, Prof. D. D. Leach, chairman of the department of economics of the University of Wisconsin and chairman of the Wisconsin Unemployment Relief committee, now disbanded, will speak on The Wisconsin Program of Public Works.

In the afternoon Harold M. Groves, member of the legislature, George Cull, president of the State Manufacturers association, and Henry Olin, president of the State Federation of Labor, will discuss unemployment insurance proposals.

Mr. Olin will preside at the luncheon, and G. W. Mead of Wisconsin Rapids, prominent paper mill executive, at the afternoon session.

WOMAN'S CLUB SETS SEAL SALE QUOTA AT $2,500

Start Mailing 350,000 Anti-Tuberculosis Seals Next Week

A business-like atmosphere will pervade the clubhouse at the Appleton Woman's club next week as volunteer workers start inserting into addressed envelopes the 350,000 anti-tuberculosis Christmas seals. The Woman's club, which sponsors the seal sale every year, has set this year's goal at $2,500.

"Approximately 1,000 letters will be sent to residents of Appleton, business places and industrial plants, immediately after Thanksgiving," said Mrs. E. V. Warner, president of the club and director of the seal sale campaign. "Each letter will contain 250 or more Christmas seals which sell for one cent each. Organizations, clubs or business places who make a special contribution may purchase five dollar 'reality' bonds. Money for the stamps are to be returned in the enclosed envelope."

We do not ask large contributions, but only that everyone contribute something towards a small contribution. From one person may a great deal to the community and thoroughness of our work. Fighting tuberculosis in this country is a sound public health project in its protection to our youth and by buying Christmas seals every person in every community may participate."

The seal sale opens the day after Thanksgiving. Mrs. C. R. Kloehn will have charge of the posters to be placed throughout the city in the city and Mrs. J. R. Williams and Miss Freda Hagen are members on the seal committee. Posters will be erected in stores and will be in charge of an assisting organization. Mrs. R. N. Clapp is in charge of the mailing list.

COUNCIL SELECTS LYON'S SECRETARY

Miss Gladys Stolt to Handle Records of Relief Council

Miss Gladys Stolt, 194 W. Brewster, will be the new secretary in the office of the city poor commissioner. She will start work Monday.

The common council voted Wednesday night to engage a secretary for a period of six months. The new worker will handle all records of the former Home Aid society, the new Welfare and Relief council, and the city poor department. She also will do all the bookkeeping incident to the Welfare and Relief fund, of which Fred Bachman is treasurer. The employment of one person to handle the records of these various relief organizations will eliminate much of the duplication, it is felt.

CLAIM STATION WOMT VIOLATES U. S. ORDER

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau) Washington — Because station WONT Markham "appears to be operating less than 15 hours daily," the Federal Radio commission will not renew its license without a hearing.

WONT will not be shut off the air, however, pending the commission's decision concerning the alleged violation of the order requiring all stations on the radio to broadcast 12 hours or more daily. A temporary license has been granted the station, pending a hearing and decision on the case.

COUNTY VETS POSTPONE NOVEMBER MEETING

The November meeting of Outagamie county council of the American Legion, scheduled for the last Thursday in the month, has been postponed to Dec. 3. The meeting will be held at Kaukauna, and Outagamie veterans will be guests. Postponement was made because next Thursday is Thanksgiving day.

School Children Learn All About Pullman Cars

"How does one climb into an upper berth? Who is the world's largest housekeeper? How does one call the porter? What does the porter do on the car? These and a thousand other questions on how modern travel cars are ventilated, constructed and cared for were answered by Passenger Agent Wilson for more than 100 Appleton school children Thursday afternoon in observation trips to the Pullman car sidetracked near the C. O. and Northern Western passenger depot.

The Pullman was brought here for special observation through the efforts of R. L. Swanson, instructor of business science at Appleton Junior high school, whose classes are studying modern transportation and travel. The special trip was opened to all school children when the Pullman was brought here from Green Bay, and will be closed away at 5 o'clock on Friday morning to Chicago.

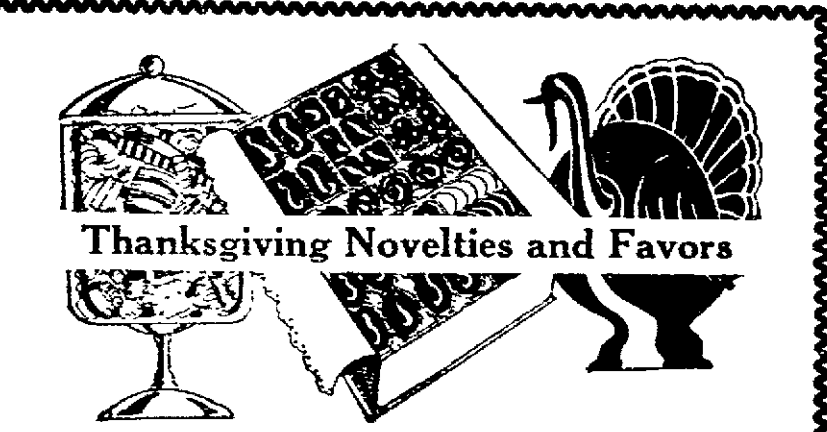

Students traveled in modern trains are here to see how a Pullman car is cared for. As a tip for a porter that people travel on Pullmans every day. From the many questions asked by Mr. Swanson and Mr. Wilson, students found out that electricity on the car is generated from the axle drive under the car, that visiting ceases at 5:30 in the car, that one climbs into the upper berth with a ladder. They learned the duties of the porter and were amused that shoes left under a berth mean that they need a shine.

To "Point-Up" Appetite Just Stimulate Bowels

Whenever the end of the day finds you out of sorts, food doesn't tempt you and won't digest, breath is bad, tongue coated, just chew a candy tablet before bedtime. Tomorrow you'll be a new person!

A candy Cassaret clears up a bilious, gassy, headachy condition every time. Puts appetite on edge. Helps digestion. Activates bowels.

Cassarets are made from cascarin, which authorities say actually strengthens bowel muscles. So, take three beautiful tablets as often as you please, or give them freely to children. All drug stores sell Cassarets for a dime, and a dollar preparation could do better work. Adm.

SWIM CLASS BREAKS ATTENDANCE RECORDS

Swimming records went over the top Wednesday at the Y. M. C. A. when 107 women and children reported for their regular classwork under the direction of Mrs. John Mills.

Swimming classes are nearly half completed in the schedule. Registrations for new classes which begin in December are being taken at the Appleton Woman's club.

PLAN HEARING ON PROPOSAL TO BUILD NEW DE PERE BRIDGE

Invite Interested Parties to Testify Next Tuesday Afternoon

A public hearing on the application of the Wisconsin Highway commission for construction of a permanent bridge across the Fox river between Main-ave and George-st at DePere and a temporary bridge across the government canal about 100 feet upstream from the site of the permanent bridge will be held at the council chambers at DePere at 1:30 next Tuesday afternoon.

The hearing will be conducted by H. M. Trippe, major of the corps of engineers with the United States War department at Milwaukee. The proposed bridge will cost about $500,000, according to a recent announcement by the state highway commission. About $400,000 will be paid by the state and the balance by Brown-co. The present bridge, over which Highway 41 is routed, has been condemned.

Major Trippe is requesting that all parties interested, particularly navigation officials, be present at the hearing. While oral statements are to be heard, those testifying are being requested to have their statements in writing, with three copies, to be included in the records to be submitted to the war department at Washington, D. C. Permission of the department is necessary in order to build the new bridge.

The permanent bridge to be constructed will consist of 15 fixed steel spans on concrete piers across the river, according to plans for the proposed new bridge on file in Madison. They may be seen there. The section of the bridge below the dam

FOX THEATRE PLANS FOR "FOOD MATINEE"

Mickey Mouse Club to Gather Supplies for Poor Families

A "food matinee" will be sponsored at the Fox theatre Saturday morning by the Mickey Mouse club of that theatre. Children will buy their admission to the three-hour program with foodstuffs, which will be distributed to the poor on Thanksgiving day.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., this morning issued a proclamation urging the support of this relief program. His statement follows:

Whereas, it has been brought to my attention by the officers of the Mickey Mouse club that their club is going to sponsor a food matinee, for Appleton's needy;

And whereas this food matinee will be at the Fox theatre on Saturday at 9 o'clock, and as I am officially assured by Mickey Mouse officers that a three hour program has been arranged for children and that all food collected will be distributed by the city poor department to the needy on Thanksgiving day.

Therefore, I, as chief executive of the city of Appleton do name and proclaim this food matinee as one which should be given the whole-hearted support of every citizen, inasmuch as they are responsible for the food the children will be allowed to bring. Anything in the line of eatables: potatoes, carrots, cabbage, canned goods, cereals, will be appreciated.

STATE POLICE SYSTEM

Two counties adjoining Outagamie in the last week have gone on record as favoring legislative action establishing a state constabulary. The Winnebago county board was the first to approve this action by resolution and a day or two ago Brown county took a similar stand. Several other counties in the state also have petitioned the state legislature for action.

The Outagamie county board has had the matter of police protection outside the cities under consideration at various times, but very little has come from it. Several years ago the board, by resolution, adopted a vigilante system, financed jointly by the county and by the bankers' association, but it never functioned because of objections raised by the state authorities.

It probably is just as well that the vigilante system did not get under way. There is considerable evidence to prove that it is far from a satisfactory method of protecting life and property and that it is quite ineffective when it comes to concerted action over a wide area for the purpose of capturing criminals attempting to escape from the scene of a crime.

The state constabulary system, however, has proved its worth in the states where it has been established. It has none of the objections that can be lodged against the vigilante system and has all the merits of a well organized police force working under centralized and competent direction.

Winnebago and Brown county boards, in adopting resolutions favoring the state system of mounted police, have recognized the value of this type of protection. Outagamie county supervisors can render their constituents a real service by joining with these neighbors in a similar expression. They can point to numerous experiences within the borders of the county to prove the necessity for this protection.

HANDICAPPED CHILDREN

The President's Conference on Child Health and Protection will shortly publish its report about the plight of the handicapped or underprivileged children of the country. It will tell the story of the blind, the crippled, the delinquent, the tubercular and the emotionally handicapped. It will also disclose that there are large numbers of normal and gifted children who, for many reasons other than lack of capacity, are failures.

According to the Journal of Education some of the figures to be released are astounding.

There are 14,000,000 of this handicapped army of children. Totally blind number 14,400, while 50,000 more are partially blind. Only 6,000 of the totally blind are now in state, public or private schools and classes for the blind, while of the partially blind not more than 5,000 are enrolled in such classes.

Three million are totally deaf. One million between the ages of five and eighteen are defective in speech, only six per cent receiving proper treatment. Three hundred thousand cripples need special attention in addition to the 382,000 who are tubercular.

The largest class of defectives are the 4,500,000 children in the elementary grades who are so mentally retarded that they require special care and treatment.

This White House report will clearly set forth the great gap which exists between the education and treatment these children are getting and what they actually need.

It will indicate that an about face must take place in certain phases of education pertaining to these unfortunate classes and that special schools designed and equipped to meet the individual needs of all types of underprivileged children are of prime importance.

It is a pity that the objectives outlined in the report have not been met.

lined by the recent White House Conference is to be dedicated on November 24th at Battle Creek, Michigan. A national radio broadcast of this event will carry a message of cheer and hope for those who have at heart the care, protection and education of that tremendous class of handicapped children.

"FREE SPEECH"

As predicted, those who had a bone, or perhaps an entire skeleton, to pick with the Italian fascist called a meeting at New York to lay plans for the purpose of shaking fists and spitting fire or tobacco juice when Dino Grandi should land. The New York papers contained an interesting story of this meeting, interesting and instructive in the ways of gnashing teeth, elementary rights, flying fists, oaths and vicious ill will, for the 500 who met to form plans loved battle so intensely they started battling with each other, not so much over Mussolini as over who should have the privilege of calling him names.

"For five minutes," says the Times, "fists flew in a dozen fights, and chairs were hurled promiscuously while scores of noncombatants rushed for the single stairway leading to the street." After the fighters became tired of fighting, and some of the most vociferous were ejected the meeting was finally brought to order or near order enough to hear a man with a fog-horn voice read a resolution "demanding" of President Hoover that he abandon all plans for receiving Italy's foreign minister. Indeed these malcontents would have been happy were the President to snub the great Italian and would probably have even forgiven him for the depression had he been willing to do so.

About $500.00 was contributed to defray the expenses of a sufficient number to go to Washington with instructions to mingle with the crowd and boo every time anyone else cheered. The faithful who were to remain at home were told that they might read in the papers concerning the success of these efforts and that if Mr. Grandi came anywhere near them they might "join in the welcome."

Now, strangely enough, every speaker denounced Mussolini because of the suppression of free speech in Italy and yet it was this very issue of free speech that provoked the free-for-all fight.

Indeed the convention found it impossible to regulate freedom of speech because it was a convention of orators.

Perhaps most of those who attended came with the notion that free speech was intended for them alone and that a thing couldn't be free if it were regulated. They did not want to listen. They wanted to talk. Compelling them to listen seemed a rank violation of the right of free speech.

After the collection had been taken a bushy-haired, bespectacled young man started to speak against what he termed the "American fascist" but since it was some one else's turn to speak the chairman denied him the right. Immediately another uproar started and his friends screamed for the right of "free speech." Some other of these friends began running around the hall inciting people "to direct action," which means to fight it out in this case for that fundamental privilege of free speech, not free speech for the one on the program but free speech for the one who wanted to get on.

In other words when an orator feels the urge to talk coming on he must just get up and talk whether he interferes with others or not. The right of free speech it seems is personal. It exists with the heaviest voice. The other fellow hasn't it at all.

But free speech has this attractive aspect, even a convention of 500 orators gets tired talking.

And yet the chairman of this "free speech" convention brought out a still other aspect of the matter by declaring when he presented a motion, "it wouldn't be safe for anyone to vote against it."

The meeting finally adjourned without ever making a clear definition of free speech except to demonstrate that it is dangerous to deny it to one of hard fists with the willingness to use them and that the humble, the weak, the lowly and the peaceful are expected to keep their mouths shut.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

AN UNUSUAL VISITOR

He dropped into my office with a grin upon his face. He talked about the weather and the college football race. He asked about the family and told the latest joke. But never mentioned anyone who'd suddenly gone broke.

He talked of books and pictures and the play he'd been to see. A clever quip his boy had made he passed along to me.

He praised the suit of clothes I wore and asked we what it cost. But he never said a word about the money he had lost.

He was with me twenty minutes, chuckling gayly while he stayed. O'er the memory of some silly little blunder he had made. He reminded me that tulips must be planted in the fall. But calamity and tragedy he mentioned not at all.

I thought it rather curious when he had come and gone. He must have had some tales of woe, but didn't pass them on. For nowadays it seems to me that every man I meet.

Has something new in misery and moaning to repeat.

And so I write these lines for him who had his share of woe. But still could talk of other things and let his troubles go. I was happier for his visit—in a world that's sick with doubt.

'Twas good to meet a man who wasn't spreading gloom about.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

POPULAR INFERIORITY COMPLEX

My dear Doctor Brady, runs a beautifully written note in green ink on blue paper; if I am not confused, I am penning this note to you with a hope of obtaining some advice.

Probably the ordinary correspondent pens his note to me with a hope of setting me back a peg or two or maybe telling me how grievously wrong I am about the subject.

For some time now I have the obsession that I have a body odor. Not more than two guesses to a person, now, which magazine does the unhappy correspondent read?

I have absolutely no foundation for this belief. . . . Oh, I don't know about that, child. Everybody who is healthy and alive has a body odor. It is characteristic, too, not only of race but of family and in many instances of the individual. Not to the ordinary sense of smell, but to the well developed olfactory sense, such as that of your dog. . . . I have friends galore.

We are not denying the boast, but it sounds a trifle exaggerated doesn't it? Just such exaggeration as one with an inferiority complex would naturally make. Actually the unhappy correspondent believes he or she has few friends or none, as we shall see presently, but it would be too humiliating to admit the truth.

Now take me as a fair example. I am reasonably certain I have as much body odor as the next fellow. If not a whiff more. I so seldom wallow in a bath tub. And I'd wager that in an unbiased tabulation or investigation of a thousand doctors chosen as they happen along I'd have as few friends as the loneliest dozen out of the thousand. Candidly I doubt very much whether we could muster a complete crew of palbearers if I were to end it all tomorrow—we'd have to hire professional carriers and announce a list of hypothetical names as honorary bearers. But that doesn't take any of the joy out of life, for I'm going to get around all that loquacious anyway.

My friends galore and all that is necessary to be happy, yet I cannot rid my mind of this thought. I dare not inquire of anyone for fear they will either lie or think me foolish.

The truth is out now—the unhappy correspondent really hasn't a friend—or perhaps we should say isn't a real friend to anybody. Pause here and think, young reader.

Should I send my doctor or is there some chemical test to discover if my suspicions have any ground?

Truly yours, A. Blank

Don't ask your doctor. Let me be your friend.

I can tell you even at this distance that you have a body odor. What of it? If you think there is excessive odor from any part of the body, write and tell me, and we'll see if we can't rid your mind of that dirty low feeling. You know you can always confide in me whether or you can get my sympathy or not.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Three Little Girls in Mascara

We three, Gertrude, Elmy and Helen, work as extras in the movies in L. I. and California, and in our line it is the beautiful ones that get the jobs, and heavy is 25 per cent make up. Can you give us a formula for mascara which we can make up ourselves? We can't afford the movie expensive mascara, and the kind we can afford leaves particles on the eyelashes. Also is there anything that will improve the growth of the eyelashes? G. R. and H.

Answer—I can assure you nothing will increase the growth of the eyelashes. I wish I could give the information you seek, but I know nothing about mascara or make-up.

I do know a thing or two, however, and would give her the man the merry laugh if he tried to tell her how to make up her face.

Hygiene in School
If you were determined to teach the boys and girls in your school, you would have to teach them that "there is no such thing as a free lunch."

Confession: I am writing this column in a state of depression. I am not feeling very well. I am not feeling very well. I am not feeling very well.

But in this depression if there's less of everything else, there's at least a bumper crop of pictures of football players making funny faces.

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington — Three men, about whom very little was heard during the recent visit of Premier Laval to Washington, perhaps were as responsible as any of the others in making the French leaders' visit run smoothly.

Their duties were most exacting. They probably put in more hours before and during Laval's visit than any one else.

The three men are what one might call the government's experts on etiquette. Their names are Warren Delano Robbins, ceremonial officer of the White House; Charles Lee Cooke, master of ceremonies for the state department; and Herbert Feis, economic adviser to the state department.

It was their lot to see that everything went off according to protocol while Laval was in Washington. Or more simply stated, it was up to them to see that the correct thing was done at the correct time and in the correct manner.

Worry Aplenty
The mass of details and worry heaped on these men during the four days the French premier was in the capital was heavy. And the fact that in Washington at the same time were other distinguished visitors, here for the Yachthon relay race, made it one of the hardest assignments they have ever had.

Especially was this true for Robbins and Cooke.

Robbins was exhausted when it was all over. Arranging formal dinners at the executive mansion, trying to keep track of hundreds of guests, seeing that all were seated in the proper place and according to rank along with a thousand other things—all vitally necessary—told on him.

Laval's visit ended Robbins' left Washington for the hills of Virginia to recuperate. For two days he did little but rest.

With the older and more experienced Cooke it was not so bad. He has been at the business of etiquette so long that the strain on such occasions is not so great. But he slept little during Laval's visit and was constantly on the go.

No Rest For Weary
Feis perhaps had the most exacting task of them all. As economic adviser to the state department, it was his duty to keep Secretary Stimson up to the minute on all subjects in this field. His hardest work came before Laval's arrival, prompting the secretary on economic subjects.

In fact, he worked so hard that when Laval finally arrived Feis was completely out. He was forced to go home and missed seeing the premier entirely.

But there's no rest for the weary. Grand is coming next month and it will all have to be gone through again. The rest of the Italian foreign minister shouldn't be so bad, however. He can at least speak English.

And no one knows better than Robbins, Cooke and Feis what a help that is.

SINKING OF "CRANCEY"

On Nov. 21, 1917, the U. S. S. Crancey, a torpedo boat destroyer, sank, drowning 11 men following a collision with the transport Rose.

Lieut. Comdr. Walter E. Rice, who was in command and his six gun officers, Lieut. Comdr. Charles F. Wadsworth and Ensign Harry G. Simonsen, Jr., and 15 enlisted men were lost.

The Crancey was one of the old type of destroyers, completed in 1910. It displaced 417 tons.

The commander included 11 officers and men and for several years before the war it had engaged only in coast defense service.

Premier Lloyd-George of England, speaking before the American War Mission and the British war effort, said that the collapse of Russia and the reverses in Italy "made it even more imperative than before that the United States and its many allies should be united in the Atlantic as they are in the Pacific."

No longer sure of the long scope of peace and military action, the world is now in a state of uncertainty.

But in this depression if there's less of everything else, there's at least a bumper crop of pictures of football players making funny faces.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES
New York—Head hunting, as practiced by certain South American tribesmen, is a much more gentlemanly manner of settling disputes over women than suing for alienation of affections, in the opinion of Dr. Herbert Spencer Dickey, the ethnologist.

Dr. Dickey, who plans to lead a "duke expedition" up the unexplored Arajuno river in Ecuador this winter, was telling me the other day of his visit, in 1925, to the haunts of the head hunters of Ecuador and Peru.

Warfare among them, he says, is perpetual because members of one tribe always are stealing the women of another.

"It seems to me not only more gentlemanly, but more effective to go about seeking a settlement in this manner, without publicity and nauseous court proceedings," he asserts.

But, Dr. Dickey? You admit the warfare over women is perpetual, even down there where a man literally loses his head over a siren. How would it improve conditions here should raiding parties from New York advance upon Hollywood and bring back a lot of heads that graced the screen?

Vice versa and versus vice, we're willing to bet our own head that should Reginald Sweetums, the movie idol, come out of the west to sever the knob of Monty Van Plasberg, the playboy, there would be more attendant publicity than a mere breach of promise suit or Reno divorce would entail.

Bridging The Ocean
A young lady returning to Manhattan from St. Louis encountered three matrons from a small Missouri town on the same train.

The trio, who were taking advantage of reduced rail and ship fare for a grand tour, were positively fiendish about bridge. That accounts for the encounter—they needed a fourth.

The tourists confessed, at the start of the continued bridge tourney, that they never had been out of the midwest before. And were they thrilled to see the sights? What?

But the young lady, whom I know well, informed me that not once did one of the trio so much as look out of the car window after the bridge table was hooked up before them.

And their conversation, when they were detraining at Pennsylvania station, centered around the problem: They might have no difficulty finding a fourth aboard ship, but what would they do here in New York, where they had no friends and over there where people speak such funny languages that they never could tell what was being bid?

Auction This Off
Speaking of bridge, Julia Lesser sent me for examination a paper card table cover on which was printed an intricate table of instructions at each player's place, telling just how to bid hands at auction. A bridge celebrity invented it.

"Here's a swell idea for avoiding arguments with your wife at the bridge table," Miss Lesser wrote. "The type is pretty large, so your partner's only alibi on a fool bid is blindness."

I passed the cover on to a family, who immediately arranged to have friends in for a try-out. After 15 fumbling minutes the device was rent in shreds by all hands present.

Here's double barreled value in 2 Trouser Suits for Thanksgiving $25

Last Thanksgiving, you were thankful for single trouser suits . . . at more money.

This year, you not only have the extra trousers but more style, finer fabrics, handsomer linings.

This value was created because we know how you feel about spending money right now.

We're making it pleasant for you to open your strong box by showing you the stourest values you've clapped eyes on in over 15 years.

JOHNSON SCOFFS AT CANDIDACY RUMORS

Chicago—(P)—United States Senator Hiram Johnson told interviewers Thursday to "quit kidding" him about being a possible candidate for presidential nomination, but he had one definite assertion to make regarding the coming campaign. It was this:

"The decision of Mr. Coolidge not to become a candidate next year entitles him to the highest praise of the American people. If Mr. Hoover were to make a like decision, he would have the undying gratitude of the rank and file of the Republican party."

One reporter thought he might have misunderstood. The California senator wrote it out for him and said "and I'll stand by it" as he signed his name to the scrap of copy-paper.

Russell, v. chairman, Plattville; William DuBois, New Richmond; J. T. Hage, Westby; Kenneth Lawson, Menasha; C. E. Trischel, Burlington; Lloyd Tubbs, Seymour; Louis R. Murd, Marinette; Kenneth Chalmers, Milwaukee; George E. Harvey, Escanaba, Mich.

At Home With Probable Next House Speaker

Folks, meet the probable next speaker of Congress as he appears at home. He is Representative John N. Garner of the 15th Texas district who is almost certain of the speakership of the House as the Democrats hold the balance of power in the forthcoming session. The white-haired veteran Democrat, swamped by letters of congratulation, is shown above dictating letters to his secretary, who also is Mrs. Garner. At the lower left you see him instructing a laborer in the art of repairing a plow at Garner's farm at Uvalde, Tex., just before departing for Washington. At the lower right he is shown assisting in gathering the wheat crop on the farm.

P. C. WESTFAHL IN RACE FOR MILWAUKEE MAYOR

WHO'S NEW IN CONGRESS

John S. Wood

Canton, Ga.—(P)—John S. Wood, a democrat and the only new member of the Georgia delegation in the seventy-second congress, comes from the rugged north section of the state.

Of the 19 counties in the ninth district, seven have no railroads, two are without telephones and two have no newspapers.

When the young judge of the blue ridge circuit announced his candidacy for congress there were few who credited him with a chance.

His opponent was Thomas M. Bell, dean of the Georgia delegation, who had served one year beyond a quarter of a century in congress and who had beaten some of the ablest men of the state in that time.

But Wood campaigned all winter and all summer, traveling over the red clay hills, and he won by a good majority.

Vigorous and possessing a hearty laugh, Wood has a pleasing personality. He was born in 1886 on a corn and cotton farm in North Georgia. He was one of 14 children.

Wood worked in a factory, taught school and then practiced law. He enlisted in the aviation service in 1917, but has flown a plane only once since he left the service.

Wood says he has no hobbies. "Too busy," is his explanation. In college he was a baseball player, a sport he continued as a semi-professional in later years.

Pure food, pure milk, pure water—in all the things you eat or drink, you want absolute purity.

Purity counts in cigarettes, too

Making cigarettes as pure as they can be made is our business. And it's your business, too—because you smoke them.

All the materials that go into the making of CHESTERFIELD cigarettes are tested again and again by expert research chemists to see that they are absolutely clean and pure. Just like the things you eat or drink.

The tobacco is pure. The right kind—mild, sweet and ripe! Handled throughout by the most modern machinery.

The paper is pure. Clean. White. The best cigarette paper that money can buy.

There is cleanliness in every step of CHESTERFIELD's manufacture. Old-fashioned methods have been discarded, and CHESTERFIELDS are made and packed in modern sanitary factories where even the air is washed, and changed every four-and-one-half minutes.

Every day more men and women are changing to CHESTERFIELD. And changing for good! Four big reasons clinch the choice: Milder—Taste Better—Pure—Satisfy.

400 Present At Meeting Of Church

ABOUT 400 persons attended the all-church get-together of the First English Lutheran church Wednesday night at Castle hall. The program of entertainment which was drawn up by a committee representing every organization in the church, began with community singing led by Elmer Rebbin followed by the address of welcome by the Rev. F. C. Reuter, pastor.

"The Honest Bums' Convention" was the title of a skit presented by the Brotherhood, and "A Matrimonial Affair" was given by the Luther League. Harry Jung was featured in a Negro monologue, and members of the Ladies Aid and Missionary society presented "A Look Into the Future." The choir sang four selections.

A program of games followed under the direction of Harry Jung. The committee in charge of the party included Fred Rasmussen, Al Kriebel, Rudolph Gauerke, Medred Albrecht, Harry Ballard, Harry Jung, Mrs. Walter Plamann, and Mrs. Floyd Foot.

At their annual thank offering service for the public, at 7:30 Sunday evening, the Young People's Missionary circle of Emmanuel Evangelical church will present a Rainbow pageant. Those who will take part are the Misses Irene and Florence Schmidt, Augusta Bethke, Gladys Lembo, Verona Thiel, and Gladys Albrecht, and Mrs. Frank Siebert. Three songs will be sung by the Misses Rosetta Selig and Lillian Withuhn, and a male quartet will present one number.

The program will take the place of the regular evening service.

Preparations for sending a box of clothing to the needy, which will be made at the meeting of the Ladies Aid and Missionary society of First English Lutheran church Thursday afternoon at Castle hall. An offering was taken for an orphanage, and it was decided to participate in the local charity drive for clothing.

The Christmas sale will be held Dec. 3 at the Kunz home on W. Washington-st. A lunch will be served. The committee in charge includes Mrs. W. Plamann, Mrs. E. Jung, Mrs. H. Helms, Mrs. E. Schabo, and Mrs. A. Baehler.

"Charity Work in the American Lutheran Church" was the topic discussed at the meeting. Forty members were present.

Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Mielke, 908 E. Hancock-st., entertained the Home-builders of Memorial Presbyterian church Thursday evening at their home. Over 40 persons were present.

A play, "Where But in America?" directed by Miss Patsy Meltow, advanced dramatic student at Lawrence college, was given. Those in the cast were Miss Jean Shannon, Miss Mary Shearer, and Ruel Gile. George Nixon sang several numbers.

Other hosts and hostesses at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boronow, Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Rohan and Mr. and Mrs. George Wood.

Plans for the bazaar to be held Dec. 1 were made at the meeting of the Sewing circle Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. Schefe, 403 N. Richmond-st. Some of the sewing for the bazaar was completed. Twenty members and two guests were present. Mrs. W. R. Wetzel was assistant hostess. The next meeting will be in the form of a Christmas party Dec. 17 at the church.

Mrs. H. Servais and Assistant Captain Z. Buchanan, of the Salvation Army, gave several vocal selections with guitar accompaniment at the meeting of Women's Christian Temperance Union Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Emma Hubbard, Franklin-st. Eighteen members were present. The next meeting will be in two weeks.

The Every Member canvass of All Saints church will be conducted 23, 29 and 30. The schedule for the 22 workers will be cutting out at dinner at Hotel Richmond. Friday evening, Nov. 27, and the canvass will start the next day. William Rounds is general finance chairman and M. T. Ray, church treasurer, is treasurer of the canvass.

Dr. John W. Wilson, superintendent of the Appleton district of the Congregational church, will attend a committee meeting on young people's work at Madison Saturday. The committee will discuss the program for the annual Congregational young people's conference.

Forty-eight persons attended the social meeting of the Ladies Aid society of Zion Lutheran church Thursday afternoon at the parish school auditorium. The next meeting will be in two weeks when plans will be made for a Christmas party to be held Dec. 14.

A large crowd attended the fall bazaar of the Ladies Aid society of St. Paul Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon at the church. Mrs. A. J. Henneman was general chairman of the event.

MAKE PLANS FOR STUDENT SENATE DANCE

Announcement was made today of committee for the All-College dance to be given by the Lawrence college student senate, by Miss Jeanette Jenkins, general chairman.

The dance which will be informal, will be given Dec. 13 just before Christmas vacation. Decorations will be in a Christmas atmosphere.

Rev. Head Gives Talk To Council

THE Rev. Henry Head, diocesan director of Catholic charities for the Green Bay diocese, was the speaker at the meeting of Father Fitzmaurice council, Knights of Columbus, Thursday night at Catholic home. He discussed the aims and accomplishments of his organization, and gave a general outline of social work in the diocese.

The Rev. Joseph Esdesky, Black Creek, chaplain of the council, gave a talk on the Life of St. Augustine. About 50 members were present.

The members will receive Holy Communion in a body on Nov. 29 at the 7:30 Mass at St. Mary church, for the deceased members of the council. They will assemble at 7:15 at St. Rita hall, in the basement of the church.

Knights of Pythias met Thursday night at Castle hall with about 25 members in attendance. Plans were made for a card party to be held Saturday night, at which C. E. Murdoch will be in charge.

Several members from Appleton went to Sheboygan early this week to attend a contest in degree work between the Green Bay and Manitowish lodges. Volley ball was played after the business meeting.

Members of the Green Bay camp and auxiliary to Spanish War Veterans will be guests of the Appleton camp and auxiliary at an old fashioned get-together party at 2:30 Friday night at the armory. Miss Florence Hatcher's troop of Girl Scouts will present some Scout work, and there will be community singing and dancing. A picnic lunch will be served.

LITTLE THEATRE WILL MEET AT SET INTERVALS

A decision to hold regular meetings at set times was made at the meeting of the Little Theatre of the Fox River Valley Thursday night at Appleton high school auditorium. The meeting night will be set later.

Reports of the various committees working on the production, "Treasure Island," were given by the chairmen or representative members of each committee. The play will be presented Saturday afternoon, Dec. 5, in Lawrence Memorial chapel.

After the business meeting, a program was presented. Mrs. John Engel, Jr., gave several readings including two Italian dialect selections, and Miss Ruth Kueger, a student, Lawrence Conservatory of Music, presented a piano number by Debussy. Joseph Bannister and J. Martin Van Roon gave a skit, entitled "Moonshine."

Plans were made for an "every member visitation" for the coming year. Emory Grunke spoke on "Straightening Out Some Kinks," and Julius Koppin discussed "Facts and Figures." Harry Cameron gave a talk on the Sunday school phase of the work. The ladies of the Missionary society served the supper.

In the every member visitation, the present at the supper Thursday night were asked to make chair speeches, and other members of the congregation will do so the next two Sundays at the church or in personal calls at the homes.

SERVE SUPPER TO MEMBERS OF LOCAL CHURCH

A congregational supper was served Thursday evening at Trinity English Lutheran church to about 175 persons. The Rev. D. E. Bosserman acted as toastmaster.

Plans were made for an "every member visitation" for the coming year. Emory Grunke spoke on "Straightening Out Some Kinks," and Julius Koppin discussed "Facts and Figures." Harry Cameron gave a talk on the Sunday school phase of the work. The ladies of the Missionary society served the supper.

The Happy Eight club met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Wenzel Sommers, Jr., S. Madison-st. Prizes at five hundred were won by Mrs. Joseph Steeger and Mrs. John Mc Ginnis. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Steeger, S. Jefferson-st.

Miss Lila Radtke, N. Fair-st., entertained the T. N. T. Bridge club Thursday night at her home. Prizes were won by Miss Dorothy Leisnering and Miss Evelyn Huss. The next meeting will be next Wednesday night at the home of Miss Emaline Bauman, N. Fair-st.

PLAN PAGEANT AT PROGRAM SUNDAY NIGHT

"My Aitar of Thanksgiving" by Mrs. J. I. Meek, Racine, is the pageant which will be presented at the Thank Offering program at 7:30 Sunday night at Trinity English Lutheran church. The service will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. D. E. Bosserman.

The characters for the pageant are as follows: The Spirit of the Women's Missionary society, Mrs. George Johnson; reader, Mrs. Harry Cameron; Builders-Ararat, Florence Nelson; Ebenezer, Helen Nelson; Gilgah, Violet Ellefson; Horeb, Viola Deichen; Sinai, Evelyn Lilje; Bethel, Ramona Roehl; Herman, Ada Rademacher; Golgotha, Irene Bosserman; Olivet, Betsy Rosenbom; Zion, Sylvia Warner.

Dorothy Warner will be the soloist. Carl Roehl made the tablets of stone and Mrs. D. E. Bosserman is directing the pageant. A short explanation of the Thank Offering will be given by Mrs. R. E. Burnmeister and the offertory, "Song of Praise" will be sung by the junior choir.

Ushers for the evening will be Mrs. O. Fugner, Mrs. H. Luebben, Mrs. Ed Baruth, and Mrs. Fred Ernst.

Thank thoughts will be given by Miss Hattie Luebben's Sunday school class of 15 girls. This class has presented a scholarship to a kindergarten child in Japan.

Teach Child To Stick To His Ideals

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Well, Sissie, I suppose you got all A's on your card?"

"Some."

"Some. Some Sissie you are. Always the white haired boy. Teacher's nice little man with his hundreds and nineties. Gee, you make me sick."

The quiet lad whose fine report had stirred anger and jealousy in the breasts of his idler classmates said nothing. He walked toward home alone, his face troubled, his footsteps lagging.

"Home early, son. I'm so glad I've got a nice hot tea cake waiting for you and then you and I are going down to meet Dad. What's wrong, my boy?"

"Mother, I just can't stand it much longer. All the fellows ragging me, leaving me to myself, making open sport of me. I just can't stand it. I'm going to punch the head off some of them. I'll show them who they are calling 'Sissie'."

"Why do they call you that?"

"Because I do my lessons. That's all. I'm head of the class again this month and they're all sided against me. They won't let me play ball, they won't let me be on the team, or anything. The only thing that's left for me to do is give a couple of them a good licking and I'm going to do it first chance I get."

"Well, never mind now. Just eat your cake and we'll hurry along. You can't afford to get all worked up for such a set as that. Any fool can call names, act like a jealous baby. That's cheap enough. But it takes a mighty strong character to stand out for what he believes is right for him."

"That's just it. Right. They laugh at me when I say something isn't right. That's what they put me off the team for, saying it wasn't right to put Glory Breen off the team, when he had played with it all season, for Murray who had just moved into the village and happened to be Bill's cousin."

When this sort of thing happens and a child who is doing his best to live up to a high standard of work and play brings down the scorn of the weak and the wobbly upon his unprotected head, the best thing to do is to support the child by assuring him he is right, that all that is necessary for his vindication is a little time. Time destroys all that is untrue and that right early. All that is good survives.

Boys and girls who boot the successful pupils, pretend to look down upon them, are only expressing their dismay at finding themselves outdone. They cannot have their cake so they take first place on the sidelines of the distressed and the fallen, the benches of the failures. Their cawings can hurt no one. Perhaps they get a little comfort out of them. Surely they need it.

Teach the successful child to go forward without grudging, without scoring. Teach him to stick to his ideals and to go forward strong in whatever faith it is that upholds him. His course will be vindicated and that before long. Nothing is more certain.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamp, addressed envelope for reply.

PLAN DISTRIBUTION OF BASKETS FOR POOR

Plans for distributing baskets of food to needy families on Thanksgiving day were discussed by boy scouts of Troop 4, Oney Johnston post, American legion at the weekly meeting at Appleton high school auditorium Thursday evening. M. G. Clark, valley scout executive will determine what families will receive the baskets.

Patrols last night discussed and demonstrated knot-making and first aid. A program of games and stunts followed the business meeting.

REV. HEAD TELLS BOY SCOUTS ABOUT CAMP

Proposed plans for a Catholic boys' camp were discussed by the Rev. Henry Head, director of the Green Bay Apostolate, at the weekly meeting of Troop 1 boy scouts in St. Joseph school hall Thursday evening. The Rev. Head stated that the camp would probably be available to boy scouts.

The youngsters also made plans for a first class scout hike on Thanksgiving day. First class scouts will go on the hike to work on pioneering for merit badges. It was decided to hold the weekly meeting at 7:30 next Friday evening because Thanksgiving day falls on Thursday.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

DON'T you think I could do brave things, Sue?" Nancy's voice, full and low and husky than was its wont, drifted across the room. "You looked so startled."

Sue knew that Nancy wasn't thinking along the current of her words. She was wondering what had happened to make Sue attach significance to them. Since she couldn't say simply and clearly that she had heard Arnold Page talk, too, she laughed.

"I'm so frightened of animals... and you wear jewelry so gorgeously... I can't think of you wearing a jungle."

But she could. Nancy with her slim, tall strength and laughing eyes and strong red mouth was just the type of woman who would have taken pot luck any place with a man she loved. Sue was seeing through her a little more clearly. Moved by a sudden impulse, not caring whether Nancy guessed that she knew anything or not, Sue added:

"But when the gowns and jewels are gone, what a gorgeous companion you would be on a jungle hunt."

"Thank you, dear! I'm glad some one appreciates the fact that I could go primitive."

The maid rang the bell for dinner.

Nancy stood up. "Oh, I'm not staying. I didn't know it was dinner time."

"Yes, you are," Corrinne answered. "Why didn't you bring Harry's father?"

"He's out of town on a business trip. Won't be back for three days."

Nancy came into the dining room, dominated the conversation by the force of her personality, made the color of a man's necktie the thing on which the dinner pivoted. Made life no more important than perfect food one minute, and threw in war and equestrian and millions the next.

"I have tickets for a show," she said when the meal was over. "You all need to get out. You're going shopping for furniture tomorrow, you said, didn't you, Sue? Good! Then by all means let's take in the party. It's in the Little Theatre. And it's a masquerade. Dancing after the performance. Come on to my house and we'll dress. I've loads of things."

Sue was tired. She didn't want to go. But she had made a resolve that she would never refuse to join in any merriment that Jack favored. Sometimes she had wondered if women who made such resolves weren't foolish. But that was before she had known Jack. She had decided the first day in his office that to do a thing he wanted to do would be some sort of eighth or ninth Heaven. She wondered, all of a sudden to-night, if he felt that way about it too. Men never did. They were different.

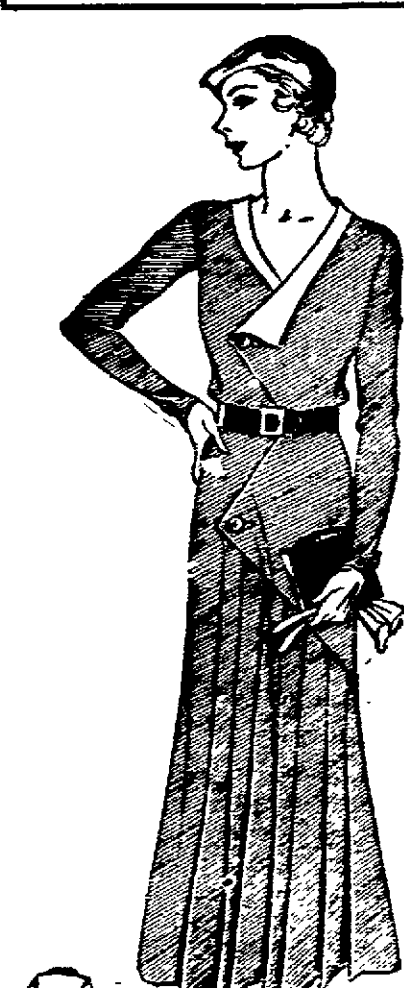

"I love masquerades. I can flirt with everybody's husband and no one can say I'm acting up because no one knows me," Corrinne caroled. "I'm strong for them. And they give Harry some breaks, too, without eagle eyes watching to grab him away from the rouged lips of the younger set."

"Everything's set, then?" Nancy called out. "Why don't you speak up, Harry? Or am I growing frivolous?" And, Jack, you used to like my ideas."

"I still do," he echoed. "But after last night... you don't want to go, do you, Sue?"

There was a mute plea in his eyes for her to say no. Sue recognized it. She looked at Nancy and laughed. "I'd much rather stay right here!"

For Day Wear

BY ANNEBELLE WORTHINGTON

Still another new and splendid model for general day occasions. And it's designed on the wrap-over lines, that give the figure charming slenderness. The skirt flared at the hem, the neckline is youthful. The neckline is very smart.

Of course, a sheer woolen made the original. It was black with all-mond green woolen trim. The bone buttons were in matching green shade.

Style No. 3457 is designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust.

Size 36 requires 2 1/2 yards 54-inch material and 1/2 yard 39-inch contrasting.

This jaunty model is stunning in tweed mixtures, canton crepe and jersey.

FIGURES ARE IMPORTANT IN TODAY'S BEAUTY

BY ALICIA HART

This is the open season on de-voutness. From now on until New Year's Day they are in the lime-light. Watching any one of them, any one of us can get ideas in beauty.

First of all, the young girl today has something more than mere beauty. She has the grace to hide the fact that she knows it. She merely appears beautifully gotten up and rather unconscious about it.

This unconsciousness of the debutante, even if only a dodge, has a charm many of us could do well to copy. It is part and parcel of the changing world. Everywhere people feel it is necessary to give more for the same price. This is the extra touch on beauty that this season's debs throw in!

Don't think they get that way by mere chance. There is a studied style. You can learn about women from them. The fundamental secret of it all is to be perfectly groomed, poised, graceful, then forget about yourself and for a change consider those about you!

Figures are all important in this new unconsciousness of beauty. It is all right to talk of curves. But certainly it is no year to let yourself have too many. A middle-aged spread like twice as bad, as a matter of fact, in a pleasing sheath gown as it did in the nonchalant sports dress of two years ago.

There is no way for most women over 25 to keep her curves within bounds but to do two things. Be careful of what foods are eaten. Be sure you exercise!

Look to your diet first. After approximately 30 years now of the slender form vogue, experts agree that it is much healthier and more satisfactory to work out a systematic diet schedule that reduces you gradually and yet keeps you nourished than it is to go on some stringent diet that starves you so you finally dream of stealing a cream puff somewhere.

Every reducing diet lands hard on three things most women like. First of all bread, cake, potatoes, fancy pastries and all starchy foods. Second, fats, such as butter, cream, meat fats and oils. Third, liquids and this means liquor as well. Don't take liquids with your meals and don't take too many at a time.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

Dear Miss Vane: I have been working for some time in an office as secretary to a man with whom I am very much in love. He is much older than I am and is married but not happy with his wife. I have worked hard to help him for I love him and know he cares for me. Recently his business has been on the verge of failure and I have been working for nothing. He says he is not able to pay me full salary so first I took a cut and then went without any salary at all. I actually have to work to support myself so those of my family who know of the present financial situation are much against me and against the man I love. But don't you think I should stick to him and be loyal to him in hard times?

MISS ANNE G.

The man in the case ought to do all the deciding for both of you—and his failure to protect you from your own self-heartedness shows him to be either weak or definitely a worse man. You may find a hundred excuses for him in your heart but I'm afraid nobody else is going to condone his actions.

In the first place you two wouldn't have started to mix romance with business. Whether he was married or not it was a bad beginning to grow sentimental about your employer. He should have had sense to understand this—and to discourage any office romance.

CHILD need REGULATING?

CASTORIA WILL DO IT!

When your child needs regulating, remember this: the organs of babies and children are delicate. Little bowels must be gently urged—never forced. That's why Castoria is used by so many doctors and mothers. It is specially made for children's ailments; contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. You can safely give it to young infants for colic pains. Yet it is an equally effective regulator for older children. The next time your child has a little cold or fever, or a digestive upset, give him the help of Castoria, the children's own remedy. Genuine Castoria always has the name:

mances. Most men of his age realize the folly of these business love-affairs and steer clear of them.

The fact that he's married makes it even more thoroughly inconsistent of him to have entered into any sort of sentimental relationship with you. He should have fired you promptly and thus ended the affair for good and all. That would have been the quickest and easiest way of discouraging your young affections.

Now, on top of his other follies, he is allowing you to remain with him on a sinking ship although he must know that you need your weekly stipend in order to live. He's taking your proffered help knowing perfectly well that he can't offer you anything in return.

He can't offer you the security of marriage—he obviously has no intentions in that direction at all. He can't promise you that your efforts in his behalf are going to be rewarded in any material way—he can only take full advantage of your fondness for him, and use it for his own ends.

Of course you'll tell me that he has a kind heart and means well and that he is really badly treated at home and has only you to lean on and to sympathize with. But I can tell you, without any ing the man at all, that he lacks real kindness—the sort which includes selflessness and a definite care for another person's happiness. You can't make something out of him. You can't ruin your own life by trying to help a man who is so selfish that he's practically unconscious that he belongs to another woman. His life is a selfish one, and you can't help yourself about it. You can't help yourself about it. You can't help yourself about it. You can't help yourself about it.

Harden your heart, and stick up for yourself. Desert the ship before it has sunk and leave behind you this episode which could never have ended in anything but misery.

RELECT BIRD HIGHWAY HEAD FOR TWO YEARS

A. F. Strehlow, Rushford,
New Member of Highway Committee

Neenah—Reelections predominated Thursday when the Winnebago board, as a special order of business, selected its employees and members of the various committees. A. F. Strehlow, Rushford, was elected member of the county highway committee; Carl Hauser, courthouse janitor, replacing Phillip Artz who has held the position for the past 27 years and who did not seek reelection; C. O. Allen, town of Oshkosh, named a member of the county agricultural committee; Miss Irene C. Eggert, county bookkeeper and deputy county purchasing agent; Mrs. Henry Schwartzbauer, town of Menasha, elected a member of the county health committee.

Other elections were: Ernest Radatz, George Spore, M. F. White and Henry Schultz to succeed themselves as members of county highway committee; George V. Grunder, reelected superintendent of the county asylum for one year. Grunder's wife was elected without opposition as matron; Dr. J. W. Loewhart, county physician. E. M. Bird was reelected as county highway commissioner for two years. The county board adopted a resolution recommending to the state department of agriculture that O. P. Cuff be returned as county agent for 1932.

Charles Haase and W. P. Bussey, present members, and C. O. Allen were named on the county agricultural committee. Dr. Justus Sutherland of Oshkosh, was reelected examiner of the county blind; Jasper G. Pickett was chosen to serve another three-year term as a trustee for the county asylum and farm; J. J. Davis of Oshkosh, was elected for a one-year term on the board of trustees of Sunnyside sanatorium.

The road program for the coming year was adopted as proposed with exception of County Trunk K between Oshkosh to Waukau, which is to be relocated several miles south from the original plan. This will give five townships a portion of the road and will not necessitate tearing up a road now in fairly good condition.

Not a cent of direct tax levy will be made for roads. There will be $125,000 of the county's surplus funds transferred to the road work program, and $70,000 will be borrowed from the banks when needed, the county putting up about $140,000 delinquent tax certificates as security.

RELIEF AGENCIES COORDINATE WORK

Seek to Avoid Duplication of Welfare Measures in Neenah

Neenah—At a meeting held Thursday afternoon, plans were completed for coordination of all relief agencies in the city to more efficiently cover the city and to avoid duplication.

This meeting was called at request of the newly formed mayor's committee on unemployment relief and was attended by persons who represent the organizations in the city. Rev. U. E. Gibson represented the churches; Mrs. T. D. Smith, Legion auxiliary; Mrs. Marie Brandsmark, schools and Y. E. Clark, Circle, ladies of the G. A. R.; Miss Evelyn Schell, city nurse; Mrs. Effie Pishon, poor commissioner; Mrs. Warren Herriek, Women's Relief Corps; Miss Edith Mitten, Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. Forest Ward, Catholic societies; Mrs. C. B. Clark, Red Cross and Visiting Nurses' association; Clara Rajahl, mayor's committee.

BOEHM ROLLS 648 IN KIMBERLY-CLARK LOOP

Neenah—Edward Boehm was high bowler in the Kimberly-Clark league Thursday night. On games of 235, 297 and 295 for a 648 total. H. Haase was a close second on 623; C. Krull, 610; Luedtke, 611; H. Haase rolled high single of 335. Specialties rolled high single team game and series of 922, 885 and 1,001 for a 2,808 total.

Klein, which is leading the league, lost three games to Superintendents, cutting down its lead to one full game over the Auditors which won three from Engineers. Kimler won a pair from Salesmen. Specialties won two from Super and Auditing a couple from Services.

SEVEN NEW BRIDGES TO BE BUILT IN COUNTY

Neenah—Seven bridges will be built next summer for which county aid will be available to the towns in which the structures are to be located. In each instance the town and the county will pay half the expense of construction.

The bridges, the towns in which they are located, and the price cost to the county, representing one-half the expense, are: Nobel bridge in town of Black Wolf, $2,000; Barnett bridge, town of Oshkosh, $1,500; Meise bridge, town of Oshkosh, $1,500; Others are Moore bridge, town of Uka, $2,400; Goshel bridge, town of Uka, $4,000; Mud creek bridge, town of Wisconsin, $1,125; and Mud Creek bridge in town of Wisconsin, $1,125.

SUPERVISORS LIST OBJECTIONS TO NEW AUTOMOBILE PLATES

Neenah—Objection to the size, color and appearance of the 1932 automobile license plates was voiced in a resolution introduced Thursday by J. B. Schneller, Neenah, at the Winnebago board meeting. The board concurred in the sentiment expressed in the resolution, claiming the plate to be exceptionally large size and of a homely color.

BOARD OPPOSES REROUTING ROAD

Keep Highway 10 on Present Location, Supervisors Declare

Neenah—Winnebago board has gone unanimously on record as opposing any proposition which will reroute Highway 10 away from the north end of Winnebago-co. As a result of the board's action, the subject will be brought up when the state highway commission visits the board.

A permanent record of the board's action will be sent to the clerk of the Wisconsin highway commission at Madison, to be a constant reminder that this county will oppose any proposed change in Highway 10 routing.

E. G. Sonnenberg, Menasha, explained the proposition to the board and asked the passage of the resolution opposing the highway change which, he said, is being advocated by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. Highway 10, he stated, is an east west route across the state. It touches Winnebago-co in two places in the northeastern area. The Appleton group is trying to get the route changed so it will go more directly into Appleton from Calumet-co, avoiding all contact with Winnebago-co. The Calumet-co board, it was said has adopted a resolution in favor of the change, and unless Winnebago-co puts in its voice the relocation may be made, Mr. Sonnenberg warned.

CLASSES PLANNED IN WOOD CARVING

T. H. Ryan, Appleton, to Teach Boy Brigade Members About Hobbies

Neenah—The first of a series of programs for the Boys' Brigade planned for Friday and Saturday evenings during the winter, will open next Friday with Thomas H. Ryan's class in wood carving.

Mr. Ryan, Appleton, will meet with the boys for four consecutive Fridays, teaching them the fundamentals of wood carving.

The purpose of the Friday and Saturday evening programs is to lead the boys to create a desire in the boy for a hobby, and secondly, to furnish a place for brigadiers to meet during the week, at the same time making more use of their building on S. Commercial-st.

Following the wood carving project, there will be other programs such as pencil sketching, painting, jig-saw work, kite-making, sailing instructions, birdhouse construction, as well as special talks and various contests and games. The programs outlined deal mainly with creative arts wherein the boy may be taught to make good use of his leisure time. Only boys interested in wood-carving will attend at 7 o'clock next Friday evening.

NEENAH SOCIETY

One hundred people attended the card party given Thursday evening by Neenah club members and their wives at the club rooms. This was the first of a program of social events to be given by the club during the fall and winter. Bridge was played. Prizes were won by Mrs. Irwin Pearson, J. O. Kushi, Mrs. Fred Bentzen, John Studier, Mrs. J. W. Hewitt and L. Leffingwell.

The next event will be on the evening of Dec. 10. It will be a card party, with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gillingham as chairman of a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Schneller, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Haerli, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Krull, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. George Danke, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Renner, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Schulteis, Dr. and Mrs. George Williamson.

Whiting Memorial Baptist church held its annual church supper Thursday evening at the church dining room. Following the supper a talk was given on Japan by Mrs. W. Ryan of Appleton.

Miss Dorothy Tuschecker entertained her card club Thursday evening at her home on First-st., Menasha. Bridge was played. Prizes were won by Miss Adeline Zemlock and Miss Barbara Rinke.

PLAN IMPROVEMENT OF RIVERSIDE PARK

Neenah—Another improvement project for the city is the re-creation of Riverside park. To be planned to make this natural park one of the most beautiful in the state. The dance pavilion recently will be torn down, and a memorial building will be erected. It also is understood that the city will not bear all the expense of this project.

The Kimberly park point, which was presented last year to the city by Mrs. Helen R. Stuart in memory of her father, the late J. A. R. Stuart, is another beauty spot on the lake shore at the Fox river entrance to be improved next summer.

ITALY USES U. S. TRADE TO PARE BUDGET DEFICIT

Expects to Collect $20,000,000 from America for Goods

BY JOHN EVANS
Rome — (AP) — Italy expects to collect about $20,000,000, or one-tenth of her budget deficit on goods from the United States.

The newest row of bricks atop her tariff wall, a 15 per cent ad valorem duty and a few special taxes, was announced as intended to yield the shortage, running about $14,000,000 a month. In addition it must yield enough to replace duties lost through lowered imports.

Old Treaty Helps
The United States, although offering uniform tariff to all countries, profits by a "most favored nation" clause in a treaty of 69 years ago. Under it the United States is entitled to the lowest tariff applied to any other country.

Germany and America are the countries most affected by the raised customs because they do most business with Italy. Italy buys most from the United States with Germany second. Italy sells most to Germany with the United States second.

Italy is a good customer because the United States sells her about $100,000,000 worth of goods and buys about $70,000,000.

Duce Closes Gap
The vigor of Mussolini's action in putting his financial house in order when the storm of the pound sterling blew over the Italian lira, is shown by the sudden drop in the adverse trade balance. In a decade Italian imports have ranged from $250,000,000 to $400,000,000, and last year was the lower figure.

The Duce, by his strong hold on the country's economy, suddenly narrowed the gap and in August the adverse trade balance was only $1,000,000, the lowest since Italian commercial records have been kept.

NORTHWEST AREA HIT BY BLIZZARDS
Snow and Rain Sweeps Down from Canada—40 Persons Missing

Seattle — (AP) — Blankets of snow lay in various sections of the northwest today in the wake of blizzards, snow storms and rains which swept a wide area southward from the Canadian line.

The inland empire country of eastern Washington and northern Idaho, and the Cascade mountain sections of western Oregon and Oregon, were hit severely yesterday. At Wallace, Id., 18 inches of snow fell and was blown into drifts to paralyze stage and rail communication.

Widely separated blizzards struck in sections of Montana, Wyoming and Colorado. Several Colorado mountain passes were blocked. Near zero temperatures were reported at some places.

Friends of approximately forty persons reported missing in the territory expressed concern for their safety. The damage caused by the storms included wires blown down, buildings wrecked, highways either blocked or made dangerous to travel, and at least two Oregon rivers swollen to flood stage by rising waters.

Two deaths were attributed to the weather. Charles O. Smith, 55, war commissioner of Coeurville, Wash., was crushed by a tree blown down by the wind and William J. Steiner, 56, of Spokane, died unexpectedly while clearing sidewalks.

At Davenport, Wash., the wind twisted a four-ton, 8,000 bushel wheat storage tank from its foundations and demolished it. A Northern Pacific train bound for Missoula, Mont., from Wallace, Ida., was stopped at Lookout Pass and forced to return to Wallace.

Virginia's "Bluebeard" and His Accusers

Who's News Today

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
New York — (AP) — Jiro Minami, Japan's bantamweight war minister, always beat his opponents to the punch in boyhood battles. This caught the attention of a rich relative who staked him handsomely and brought him up in the fighting business. His statement of Japan's position, made public today, explains his country's defensive attitude against Chinese aggression and is entirely pacific in tone. He is unaccustomed to the defensive position.

The little, gray, bristling war lord, socially inept, was obscure in the army until he overrode the opposition of the Wakatsuki cabinet and took charge in Manchuria, more or less. Last July, he gave the army commanders a lesson and told them they would have to do something about Chang Hsueh-Liang. At a recent cabinet meeting, he battled Baron Shidehara, foreign minister. The cabinet was undecided, and he did not wait for its verdict. More than any other powerful leader in Japan, he exemplifies the militancy of the old Samurai—he is of that caste, and conforms to its ancient discipline. He is a fencer, a daring horseman and an expert with the broadsword and single stick. He is impatient with the restraints of diplomacy and the debates of the general staff. He has commanded garrisons in Korea and China.

The marquis of Lothian, brother-in-law of Captain Francis Wendell Butler Thwing, of Cleveland, will sell in America the library of Bickling castle, ancient manuscripts and odds and ends, and, it is understood here, will never live in the castle. The reason is not stated in the cables but it is possibly supplied by previous chronicles. The mangled remains of Queen Anne are supposed to be entombed in a chest at Savile church, on the Bickling estate and tenants of the castle have complained that the shade of the unhappy queen wandered about nights, carrying her head in her hand. She drives up in a coach with four headless horses, attended by a headless black dog—barking hoarsely.

That made the old marquis nervous and along toward the end, before the present marquis, his cousin, succeeded him, it was said that his mind had given way. Hence, Lord Phillip Kerr, now holding the title and estates, gives the castle a wide berth. Phillip Kerr was one of the confidential secretaries of David Lloyd George at Paris, and became marquis of Lothian March 15, 1920. He attained distinction in British politics and frequently has been mentioned as possible viceroy of India.

The beautiful old Jacobean mansion, built early in the seventeenth century, stands on a grant of 6,000 acres, which King Edward the Confessor gave to the family before the Norman conquest. The sale in New York next January will include in its items the "Bickling homilies," a Vellum manuscript of the tenth century, the only Anglo-Saxon manuscript ever brought to America.

Captain White, son of the president emeritus of Western Reserve university, married Phillip Kerr's sister, Missa.

Rosika Dolly married Jean Schwartz and Yancsi married Harry Fox on the same day in 1921, and they later divorced both husbands on the same day. Today's announcement of court approval for Rosika's divorce from Sir Mortimer Davis, Canadian tobacco magnate, shows the dancing twins for once out of step. Usually they work together.

It was so in their childhood, when Hungarian girls in a Berlin convent, Rosika was thrown out for dancing in her nightgown. Rosika went along. Her father Julius took them to America and there their dancing won more approval. They swept London and kept in step for years in aggressive tangles over family wars, lawsuits and the like. In 1925, the Moulin Rouge played up Rosika's dancing legs ahead of

FURNITURE MAKERS SEE BRIGHT FUTURE

Three Years of Decline at End, Head of Exposition Declares

(Editor's Note: The following story on the business outlook in the furniture industry was written by Clarence S. Dexter, president of the Grand Rapids Furniture exposition, and official in several of the largest furniture companies in the country.)

BY CLARENCE S. DEXTER
Grand Rapids, Mich. — (AP) — Furniture men are smiling again. They have ridden out the storm, and now, with virtually every other industry in the world, are facing the period of reconstruction. It is the first time in three years that furniture manufacturers and dealers can look ahead without fear.

The recovery was inaugurated in November with announcement of price increases by many of the furniture manufacturing companies, some of whom pleaded at the same time that there would be no reduction in the next six months. This ended a steady decline of three years which has lopped about 10 per cent off the price of manufactured furniture.

There is no likelihood, however, that this reconstruction will be accomplished overnight. In my opinion it will be all of two years before furniture can regain the position it commanded in 1929. But it will get there.

Decks have been cleared for action. Stocks have been reduced to a minimum; the most intensive advertising and promotional campaign in the industry's history is being waged; assets have been liquidated to the fullest extent and liquid economies have been put into effect widely.

Now, with a reawakened buying public, they stand to wipe the red ink off ledgers. That this reawakening of buying interest is real is attested by the orders being placed

THE ROYAL PURPLE VAULT

WORTHY OF ITS NAME

Beautiful in its color and stately in its appearance, the Buckstaff Royal Purple Vault is truly worthy of its name.

It offers a complete protection to the remains of the deceased that is guaranteed for 99 years.

There can be no greater tribute to the departed than the provision of a Buckstaff Royal Purple Vault.

It can always be identified by its purple color, gold handles and serial number. Without these, it is not a genuine Buckstaff Royal Purple Vault.

Stone Ready To Account For Farm Board's Funds

Washington — (AP) — Chairman Stone is ready to show the American public exactly what the federal farm board has done with the $500,000,000 entrusted to it to help the farmer.

If the senate agriculture committee demands it, he will spare no details of the board's ventures into wheat and cotton markets to refute charges it has failed in its purpose.

The committee's hearings began Tuesday—marking a reopening of the aged farm relief controversy which undoubtedly will echo far into the 1932 presidential election.

If requested, complete information on the board's wheat and cotton holdings and its financial position will be furnished by Stone. Otherwise, it will be reserved for the annual report due early in December.

"We have nothing to conceal," he said today. "We are not ashamed of what we have done. We do believe, however, that these last two years of falling prices have not been a fair period in which to test the agricultural marketing act."

When Stone appears before the committee he will have an armful of data to support his contention that the board's purchase of more than 2,000,000 bushels of wheat averted a general breakdown of small banks last fall, and placed $100,000,000 in increased prices in farmers' pockets.

That is his thesis, he will contend, far outweighing the loss suffered by its $500,000,000 bankroll.

WORLD PEACE ADVANCED BY GRANDI VISIT

Understanding Promoted,
Italian and Stimson
Say in Statement

Washington—(AP)—Dino Grandi of Italy, left behind him in Washington today a new bond of international friendship and a call upon the nations to aid in re-establishing world confidence and stability.

Mussolini's foreign minister boarded an early morning train for New York after a round of receptions and tributes which climaxed four days of international discussions with the heads of the American nation.

The results of five talks were given out in a formal joint statement issued late yesterday by Grandi and Secretary Stimson. It was couched in the usual unspecific diplomatic language, but indicated clearly that both Italy and America hope for some definite results at the Geneva arms conference and for completion of an Italo-French naval accord.

"We believe," the statement said, "that the existing understandings between the principal naval powers can and should be completed and that the general acceptance of the proposal, initiated by Signor Grandi, for a one year's armistice on sea is indicative of the great opportunity for the achievement of concrete and constructive results presented by the forthcoming conference for limitation of armaments."

Subjects discussed were said to have embraced the present financial crisis, inter-governmental debts, the problems surrounding the limitation and the reduction of armaments, the substitution of international exchanges, and other vital economic questions.

Wife Stays Behind
Signora Grandi did not accompany her husband to New York. She remained for a brief rest after the arduous social round of the past week, planning to join the minister this afternoon in Philadelphia. Their last function was a big reception at the Italian embassy.

Leaving it at midnight, both went to their hotel, and shortly before 2 o'clock Grandi, accompanied by Ambassador de Martino, Warren Robbins of the state department, and the aides he brought with him from Italy, went to the train.

He shook hands with every member of the motorcycle squad assigned to guard him in the capital. He had a round of farewells with the newspapermen who have covered his visit, acknowledged a cheer from a small crowd gathered at the station gates, and was off to receive the formal welcome of New York. He will spend another week there and in Philadelphia and Baltimore before returning to his homeland.

In addition to the joint communiqué, Stimson and Grandi made individual statements, the former describing the talks as "both enlightening and helpful" and Grandi saying he would carry back to Italy "something very precious in my spirit."

"I have learned very much," Grandi added, "I go back to Italy, but I leave here amongst you a good part of my heart."

Then, in his first American radio address, Grandi said, first in Italian and then in English:

"All the problems we are faced with—political, financial and economic—are, after all, chiefly a question of mutual confidence. If all countries are ready to tackle them in a spirit of reciprocal comprehension, of fairness and common sense, their solution may be nearer than I may appear today."

OHIO WIFE SLAYER TO BE EXECUTED TONIGHT

Columbus, Ohio—(AP)—His last hope blasted by failure to win executive clemency, Tilby Smith, 26-year-old Ashtabula truckman, must die tonight as the murderer of his wife, Clara.

Smith, convicted with Mrs. Maude Lowther of slaying his wife in order to satisfy an illicit love, spent his last hours pacing the floor in one of the seven death cells at Ohio penitentiary where he will be led to the electric chair shortly after sundown.

While her former lover prepared to die, Mrs. Lowther, 23-year-old quarter-bred Indian, sat in a jail cell at Wooster where she will be tried a second time next month. Her first conviction, calling for the death penalty, was reversed by the appellate court which granted a change of venue from Ashtabula to Wooster.

SELL LIBERTY LAND TO SATISFY FORECLOSURE

A parcel of land in the town of Liberty will be sold at public auction by Sheriff John Leppen at the courthouse on Dec. 26 to satisfy a mortgage foreclosure judgment. The judgment was granted by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court on Nov. 1, 1931, and the sale was ordered Nov. 10, 1931. The property is owned by William Roberts, Sr., et al, and the mortgage is held by A. F. Mentzel.

Where 43 Cows Burned in Illinois Milk War

Ruins of a $50,000 incendiary fire in which 43 pure-bred Guernsey cattle, a team of horses, a store of fodder, farm machinery and a barn in Will-co, Ill., were destroyed as open warfare broke out between organized and independent dairy-men are seen in this picture. Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Lantz, left owned the barn and cattle. Vandals crept up to the barn in the night, drenched it with gasoline and applied a torch.

Former King Alfonso XIII Is Banished By Assembly

and buzzed, Julian Besteiro, the speaker, called the court to order.

"Let the accusations proceed against Alfonso de Bourbon," he said, and a clerk read the charges.

The clerk sat down.

"Alvaro Figueroa y Torres!" he called, in a clear voice.

The aged, aristocratic old Count de Romanones, proud remnant of a monarchy that once vied for the supremacy of half the world, stood up to defend his king, Alvaro Figueroa y Torres is his family name.

The constituent assembly recognizes no noble titles, just as Cromwell's judges faced a Charles Stuart instead of a Charles I and the French revolutionary tribunal looked upon a Louis Capet instead of Louis XVI.

"I usually retire by 10 o'clock, but I am wide awake now," the count began. "I speak because it is my duty, without consulting anyone. I have been three times premier and many times a cabinet minister in my 40 years in public life. My silence now would be criminal."

The assembly, he said, violated the first law of the criminal code by attempting to condemn the former king without a hearing. He denounced Alfonso had usurped his power to convert Spain into an absolute monarchy, for Alfonso, he said, had never forced a minister to act.

"Some of his ministers are here," he said. "Ask them if Alfonso ever forced them to sign decrees." Alfonso, he added, was powerless to stop the dictatorship because the captains general and the public favored it.

The count sat down. Other deputies detailed the charges against the former king. When the vote came in the early morning hours, there was no dissenting voice. The count, his cause defended, refrained from voting.

YOU'RE RIGHT, SENATOR

Washington—Senator Hiram Bingham, president of the National Aeronautic association, has the following to say of the development of aviation in the United States:

"The future of aviation depends on how thoroughly we realize the limitations of scientific truths and the human personnel in flying. We have been developing machines faster than human beings. Humans must be developed in efficiency as rapidly as our machines in the future."

PISTOL FLASHES AS PROFESSOR OPENS CLASS AT EVANSTON

Evanston, Ill.—(AP)—Prof. John B. Morgan's psychology class got off to a running start.

Memory courses were the subject of the professor's talk.

"Memory courses," he said, "are fakes."

William Chamberlain, a student, took exception. "Did you ever hear of the Roth course?" he asked. "My uncle's an official in it."

"It never did me any good," said Edward Whelan, another member of the class.

"Well," replied Chamberlain, "a course is no good unless you start with something."

"Do you mean I'm dumb?" asked Whelan. "I'll see you outside."

"No you won't," yelled Chamberlain, as he pulled out a pistol and started firing, following which he chased Whelan out the door. The whole class followed.

"And now, children," said the professor when the whole class noticed that the two belligerents were gone, "this was just my yearly stunt to give the class a test on observation."

LIMIT SPENDING OF CITIZENS ON FOREIGN STRANDS

Allowances Set by Decree of President Enrique Olaya
Herrera

Bogota, Colombia—(AP)—When Senor Don Juan Samper, one of the aristocrats of Bogota and his wife, Senor Dona Harriet Howell de Samper, granddaughter of Brigham Young, and their son arrive in San Francisco the middle of November they will live on $500 a month.

There will be no question about it, for their living allowance is set by decree of President Enrique Olaya Herrera.

President Olaya did not have the Samper in mind when he issued his decree. He was thinking of the thousands of others who live abroad on incomes originating in Colombia.

Many millions of such dollars go abroad every year and President Olaya is trying to block this outward flow of gold in order to maintain Colombia's peso at its legal value of 97 cents.

Hence the decree fixing allowances for all expatriates. By this order Senor Samper, being the head of his family, may receive $250 monthly from Colombia. Senora Samper is limited to $150. The son, 2 years old, being a dependent, can have $100 more.

Some peculiar situations have arisen because of the decree. There is the case of the American who had completed his work here and was prepared to return to the

BLOWS OWN HORN TO WIN HONORS IN NEBRASKA VILLAGE

Louisville, Neb.—(AP)—With a big baritone horn, F. H. Nichols has virtually blown himself into the honor of being Louisville's most distinguished citizen for 1931.

In other cities the most distinguished have sponsored huge civic

United States with a few thousand dollars in savings. He found his money would have to stay in a Bogota bank, but that he could receive $250 a month from his account.

enterprises, but Mr. Nichols over a long span of years has been steadily tooting his way into the heart of Louisville.

Henry A. Newman post of the American legion chose him for the honor and will present him with a loving cup at a civic ceremonial.

Nichols, a merchant, has served a term of two on the town council but it has been with the baritone horn that he won his honors. He has made the town conspicuous.

A town of approximately 1,000 persons, Louisville has four full sized bands. To say nothing of an orchestra. There's the Farmers' band, the Cement Factory band, the High School band, the Official Town band and the Nichols' Family orchestra.

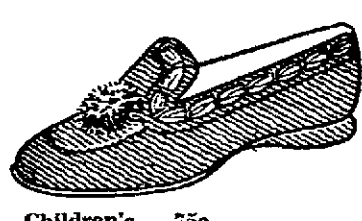

Nichols plays in two of them and had a hand in the organization of all.

CHANGE DATE FOR SOCIETY PROGRAM

"Pageant of Shawls" to Be Presented Dec. 2 Instead of Nov. 24

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—Due to conflicting dates the presentation of the "Pageant of Shawls" by the Ladies Aid Society of the Congregation church will be given Dec. 2 instead of Nov. 24. The cast of characters, who in costume will depict the periods dating from the mantles worn in Biblical times to the elaborate and purely decorative evening shawls of the modern maid, have been chosen by Mrs. J. W. Monsted, Jr., president of the society. The pageant will be given in the auditorium of the church. The characters will appear against a background of shawls, and a musical setting will be provided by Mrs. Elizabeth La Budde of Weyauwega, with Mrs. Aileen Traylor-Fellenz as accompanist. The characters are as follows:

Mrs. C. B. Reuter, Dame Fashion.
Mrs. John Monsted, Jr., Indian.

GAME OR SLAM?

The are four important ways of showing strength in four bids which are forcing and as such, obligate a response. Each of them is made in a different bidding position. These four bids are as follows:

1. As dealer, an exceptionally strong hand—5 honor-tricks or more—is shown by an opening bid of two in a suit.
2. When responding to an opening bid, 3 honor-tricks (or more) are shown by a forcing takeout. This is a bid of 1 trick more than is necessary in a suit not previously shown.
3. The opening hand can also make a forcing takeout. A jump bid in a new suit by the opening bidder, after a minimum response by partner, is a forcing rebid. This bid is made when game seems probable on the basis of the bidding and usually shows a minimum of 4 honor-tricks in the hand.
4. When defending against an opening bid, an exceptionally strong hand is shown by an overbid of the adversary's suit.

Of these four types of bids, the second is the most important. I have often described it as "the backbone of the Forcing System." Here—from the Anglo-American duplicate of 1930—is a good example of its use.

North-dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

♠ A K J 5
♥ A K J 3

At the table where England sat East and West, the bidding was as follows:

	North	East	South	West
Pass	1♠	Pass	4♠	Pass
Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass

The deal was thus played in four spades and, with a heart opening lead, South, East had the mortification of making 13 tricks after only contracting for 10.

Under the Forcing System, such a fiasco would have been impossible. Here was the bidding at Table 2—where Mr. Lightner, as it happened, sat East, while I was sitting West.

	North	East	South	West
Pass	1♠	Pass	2♠	Pass
Pass	6♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

The crucial bid in West's forcing takeout of three clubs. This flashes to East the following message: "1. I have a strong hand—3 honor-tricks at least. 2. I have at least one biddable suit—my best being clubs. (Clubs are bid in preference to hearts as the latter is the longer suit.)"

LARGE FUNDS ARE RAISED IN RELIEF DRIVES

Increase Noted Over Comparable Figures Last Year, Reports Show

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1931, by Post Pub. Co. Washington—American generosity in revealing itself in unmeasured helpfulness, judging by the figures on the results of relief fund drives throughout the country as received by the president's organization for unemployment relief.

Four states have appropriated from their treasuries directly about $30,000,000, while community chest drives in 54 cities have already raised approximately $20,000,000. In 42 states and more than 1,600 cities there are committees dealing with unemployment.

State committees have not been formed in six states, namely, Louisiana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Rhode Island and Delaware. In the last two, because the area is relatively small, local committees are taking care of the problem.

Community chest campaigns are going on in 153 cities. Last year, such campaigns raised $14,000,000 in 232 cities. The drive completed thus far shows an increase of 13.1 per cent over comparable figures for last year.

Much of the money collected for community chests, of course, goes for the maintenance of permanent welfare institutions, so that it is only the increased amounts which are available for unemployment relief.

Surveying the total amount available for direct unemployment relief, private philanthropy is supplying about 30 per cent while city and state treasuries furnish the remainder.

States Raise Funds

The two major appropriations by states thus far have been made in New York and New Jersey, which have set aside $20,000,000 and $10,000,000, respectively, but these funds call for local governmental units to match them in varying proportions, so that approximately $65,000,000 may be spent in those two states. This information comes from the Association of Public Welfare Officials.

The Pennsylvania legislature is now sitting in special session considering ways and means of making relief money available.

Ten states have advised President Hoover that they will not need any federal assistance. These are Missouri, Rhode Island, Indiana, Michigan, Connecticut, Illinois, New York, California, West Virginia and Delaware.

Various states measures have been adopted to raise revenues. In some instances state employees are contributing a day's pay. Maryland has set aside the license fees for four special racing days.

Some states are issuing bonds, others are putting into effect new tax laws. Home relief in New York state may be granted to persons who have lived there for two years, prior to Nov. 1, 1931. It is defined as shelter, food, fuel, clothing, light, medical attention, but does not include old age relief or aid to veterans.

All moneys from local and state sources are expended under rules laid down by the state emergency relief administration.

New Jersey Plan

The New Jersey plan of work relief is also based on the fifty-fifty matching plan, but in home relief, cities must contribute 60 per cent to the state's 40 per cent. Sixty thousand will contribute $150,000 to county work relief, and road work and the counties match the fund dollar for dollar.

Various states have work relief projects and generally speaking the cooperation between state authorities and the municipalities is caring for the major problems developed by the depression.

Many of the state committees were in existence before the national committee was appointed by the president. All the states except Kansas have a representative on the president's organization, but the cities are not equally represented. In Illinois, Washington and Montana, state employees have already given a day's pay to unemployment relief funds, while in the District of Columbia arrangements are being made for each federal employee to give three day's wages to the local community chest to be paid in monthly installments so that a million dollars will be raised in that manner.

RADIO EXPERTS WORK ON NEW SCANNING TUBE

Berlin (AP)—Televisors have become the field of eager concentration among the radio experts sponsored by the post office department's plan to introduce regular visual programs.

Among the various devices under investigation by the postmaster general's department is the "Braun" tube, an electrical scanning device based upon the cathode ray system and similar to that developed in the United States by Dr. Vladimir Zworykin and Philo T. Farnsworth. The tube produces a sharp stream of electrons thrown on a fluorescent screen, which causes them to become visible.

Manfred von Ardenne has utilized the Nipkow scanning disk turned by a motor. He has increased the number of dots per picture from 1200 to 11,000, getting clear results with little or no flicker. He transmits 20 pictures per second.

Another system uses a rotating mirror screw. It consists of 84 small mirrors mounted in the form of a winding stair. Each mirror reflects one line of the received picture.

PUPILS POUR OVER ANIMAL MAPS IN ROOMS AT LIBRARY

Going to the library after school is just an ordinary event, but visiting the children's library at 11 o'clock in the morning is like wearing your Sunday suit on Wednesday. At least that's what fourth grade pupils thought Thursday morning when they visited the Book Week display in the juvenile department of the Appleton public library.

Throwing their coats, hats, and scarfs in a pile on one of the chairs, the youngsters wrapped themselves around the tables and shelves of new books, poked their fingers into the big cloth "world" that symbolizes the theme of Book Week, "around the world in books," and pored over the animal maps on the tables.

Miss Mabel Grignon, children's librarian urges teachers to bring classes to the library during school hours, and invites adults to visit the children's room.

CONSIDER TIBBETT MUSICAL PIONEER

Song Interpretations Stamped With Powerful Personality

More than a great singer, more than a great artist, Lawrence Tibbett, who will sing at Lawrence Memorial chapel Monday evening, is a pioneer of a musical expression distinctly American that is creating a tremendous influence on the music of the country. Tibbett's way is not of the conventional, but one evolved from his own inspiration. Always within bounds of sincere art, his song interpretations and those of his opera roles take on the dominant aspect of a newness never presented before. Stamped with a powerful personality, they bear the unmistakable impress of a genius.

Since that night of his first big triumph, the most sensational ever accorded at the Metropolitan Opera house to an American, Tibbett's career has mounted steadily toward a splendid climax of increasing fame.

The position held by Tibbett is unique. With a triple public drawn into a unit for appreciative admiration, his audiences are composed of opera lovers, concert enthusiasts, and screen fans. To hear him in no matter what domain becomes his dominating thought, carrying his popularity to an extent hitherto unreckoned in any artist's career. Neither this nor any other day has given the international world a more consummate artist than Tibbett. Versatility, individuality and originality add their lustre to his supremacy in three different fields—concert, opera and moving pictures.

Tickets for the Tibbett concert still can be secured at Belling drug-store.

RADIO "FEELER" TELLS AKRON IF FOG IS BELOW

Akron, O.—(AP)—A radio "feeler" is to be added to the equipment of the U. S. S. Akron to enable officers of the airship to determine atmospheric conditions below them.

The instrument was designed by Professor Mokschanov, Russian scientist, for attachment to the balloons. It is to be lowered from the airship.

Measuring temperature, air pressure and atmospheric moisture, the instrument transmits radio signals which are to be recorded on a revolving drum in the control car.

FORMER MILL HEAD DIES IN ST. PAUL

W. W. Johnson Succumbs at Home of Daughter, Mrs. Charles Wiester

W. W. Johnson, 65, former superintendent of the Kimberly Clark Co. mills at Kimberly, died at 10 o'clock Thursday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Wiestar, at St. Paul, Minn., according to word received here. Mr. Johnson left here for St. Paul about 15 years ago.

Mr. Johnson was born in Chillicothe, Ohio, in 1866. About 25 years ago he was married to Miss Clara Stengel of Menasha. Mrs. Johnson died about a year ago.

Survivors are two sons, Leland, Philadelphia, Pa., and William, Dayton, Ohio; three daughters, Mrs. Wiester, and the Misses Margaret and Dorothy all of St. Paul.

The body will be brought to the Schommer Funeral home Saturday. Services will be held at the funeral home.

GOOD PROGRESS IS MADE INSTALLING NEW SIGNAL LIGHTS

Expect System at Leppla's Corners to Be in Operation in 10 Days

Progress is being made with installation of the automatically-controlled stop-and-go lights at the intersection of Highways 10 and 25 at Leppla's Corners, according to F. R. Appleton, highway commissioner. The work, which was started about 10 days ago, will be completed in about a week or 10 days. The new lights will be the first of their type in this district. They are being installed under direction of the maintenance department of the division state highway office at Green Bay. The state is paying the cost.

When there is no traffic on the intersecting highways the lights change every 30 seconds, as they do when there is a steady stream of traffic from both directions. Under conditions when traffic is light both ways, cars approaching the intersection run over a pad or metal strip in the road about 150 feet from the crossing. This sets the mechanism in motion and the lights change from red to yellow and to green in time to give the approaching car a warning. In case two cars approach at the same time on Highways 10 and 25, the car on Highway 10 has the right of way and the lights operate on that circuit first.

At Leppla's Corners there have been many fatal accidents, the most serious a few months ago when four persons were killed in a collision. Similar lights are to be installed at the Waverly beach crossing, where Highways 10 and 141 intersect; at Stewart's corners, where Highways 25 and 50 intersect; and at Gillingham's Corners, where Highways 25 and 41 intersect.

Chicken Lunch Sat. Nite, Hamacheck, Kimberly.

It Is Said--

That aldermen are still gasping over the 25-minute meeting Wednesday night. No one can remember a shorter regular meeting, or any meeting that was as devoid of controversy. Outside of roll calls and two or three short explanations hardly a word interrupted the steady reading of reports and communications by the clerk. Aldermen McGowan and Davis explained the need for a secretary in the poor department, and Alderman Thompson discussed a clause of the street and bridge report, but outside of that no one took the floor. The meeting was called at 7:35 and adjourned at 8 o'clock.

That the west windows at Wilson Junior high school light up with all the roseate beauty of stained glass windows in a cathedral at the sunset hour. All the beauty of the sunset seems to reflect in the almost solid wall of window, flanked on either side with building abutments.

SPAGHETTI PLATE

Economical dinners can be appetizing! Just combine left-over meats and vegetables with Spaghetti, and see how the family applauds your skill! The saving is your own secret.

Millions of American housewives serve Spaghetti, Macaroni and Egg Noodles—the Energy Trio—often. These nourishing foods make so many delicious dishes.

Cut Out This Recipe for SPAGHETTI PLATE

1/2 lb. spaghetti 1/2 cup diced carrot
2 cups meat 1/2 cup diced celery
2 tbsp. flour 1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup milk 1 tsp. chili sauce

1. Cook spaghetti until tender; drain. 2. Mix cold meat, carrot, celery, add flour and milk; cook slowly until well heated. 3. Add lemon juice and chili sauce. 4. Arrange spaghetti around platter, fill center with meat. Garnish with parsley. Makes 4 servings.

WHOLE WHEAT KERNEL

WHEAT POPS "popped" from the whole grain

The magnifying glass tells the story! See how the compact wheat kernel has been "popped" into a plump, crunchy tid-bit with the full food value and the glorious flavor of the whole grain.

Eat WHOLE GRAIN foods — avoid devitalized foods!

WHO pays when you eat a breakfast food that substitutes "bulk" for balanced nourishment? Your appetite is satisfied. But there is a hidden hunger—a body still famished for vital elements not found in devitalized cereals. Most breakfast foods are devitalized! Do you know why? Because for years food chemists failed to "pop" WHOLE GRAINS into plump, crispy breakfast tid-bits.

At last science has succeeded! Have you tried WHEAT POPS or RICE POPS—the first foods ever "popped" from WHOLE GRAINS? POPS has the full food value that Mother Nature packs into the WHOLE kernel—minerals, proteins, carbohydrates and that gentle laxative—bran—to promote regular elimination. POPS is crispy, crackly, crunchy with the supreme flavor of sun-ripened grains! Serve POPS to all the family for deliciousness—for balanced nourishment! Ask for WHEAT POPS or RICE POPS—avoid devitalized cereals!

Try These Delicious Recipes For Your Thanksgiving Dinner

Menu

POOR MAN'S FRUIT CAKE

2-3 cup Joannes Quality Molasses
 1-2 cup Brown Sugar
 1 cup Strong Coffee
 1 pkg. Martha Washington Seedless Raisins
 3-4 cup Shortening
 2 Eggs
 1 cup Chopped Nuts
 3 cups General Purpose Flour
 1 tsp. Soda
 1 tsp. Baking Powder
 2 tps. Cinnamon
 1 tsp. Allspice
 1-2 tsp. Cloves
 1-2 cup Glazed Pineapple, cut fine
 1 pkg. Dates, cut fine
 4 ozs. Orange Peel

Place the molasses, coffee and shortening over the fire and heat until the shortening is melted. Cool and add the other ingredients, mixing as for butter cake. Bake in loaves in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. until the cake shrinks from the pan, about one hour.

COCOANUT KISSES

3 Egg Whites
 1 cup Sugar
 1 tsp. Vanilla
 1-4 lb. Dunham's Moist Cocoanut
 12 Maraschino Cherries cut in small pieces

Beat the egg whites very stiff. Fold in the sugar, a tablespoon at a time until all is added. Add the vanilla, then the cocoanut and cherries. Drop from a teaspoon on a greased and floured cookie sheet and bake in a slow oven, 350 degrees F. until lightly browned—about 45 minutes.

CIDER MOLD

2 cups Joannes Quality Cider
 1 pkg. Martha Washington Lemon Jelly Powder
 2 cups Diced Apples

Bring the cider to a boil, remove from the fire and add the jelly powder. Stir until dissolved and set in a cold place. Core red apples, but do not peel. Cut in small dice and add to the jelly when it begins to thicken. Pour into a mold and let stand until firm. Unmold and serve with baked ham, pork or fowl.

SILVER COIN TARIFF BANS SHILLING TRADE
Pretoria—(AP)—To stop the dumping of silver from England into South Africa, the union's government has imposed a duty of 20 per cent on all British coins.
The action developed from suspension of the gold standard in Northern and Southern Rhodesia, those colonies having followed the example of the mother country.
The South African pound thus became worth more than 20 English shillings and persons holding South African currency, or those about to visit the nation, found it advantageous to change their money outside the country into English silver, the latter coins being legal tender here.

TOM WILL WATCH HIS DRINKS NOW
Indianapolis, Ind.—The after effects of a drunk 11 years ago proved an unpleasant surprise to Thomas Kesterson.
Tom, then a sailor, got drunk in Manila. It was one of those kind of stupors that causes a person to lose all track of events which occur between the time he "passes out" and wakes up with a headache and a strong taste in his mouth.

Just recently Tom learned the effects of that drunk. Rose Delos Reyes, a Manila woman, came to Indianapolis with two children, declaring that she was his wife and that Kesterson was the father of one of the children.
Kesterson filed for divorce, saying that Rose "got this plaintiff drunk" and that they were married with "only Filipinos present." He asked annulment of the marriage.

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow ...

a little at a time

... so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously ... a little at a time.

No can of Hills Bros. Coffee will ever "go stale." The vacuum can keeps it FRESH ALWAYS!

Improved roasting process creates marvelous flavor in coffee

Hills Bros Coffee roasted a little at a time by patented, continuous process

Controlled Roasting brings out the fullest flavor that Nature puts in the coffee berry

The finest flavor is developed in coffee by a precise amount of roasting. Any more or any less can cause dissatisfaction. But it is always difficult to be exact by ordinary, bulk methods. Therefore, Hills Bros. roast a little at a time ... evenly, continuously, by their patented, Controlled Roasting process. A perfect roast is assured—the exquisite flavor of coffee at its fullest and finest! And the flavor never varies.

Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh, too! Air, which makes coffee go stale, is removed and kept out of Hills Bros.' vacuum cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But when you buy Hills Bros. Coffee, it is as fresh as when it came from the roasters!

One sip of Hills Bros. Coffee will tell you it has a flavor no other coffee has. Delightful. Rich. Bracing. And every cupful tastes the same! Controlled Roasting prevents variation. Order some Hills Bros. Coffee today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

ONE WOMAN'S SECRET

HESS was the most engaging personality in the crowd. She dressed well—always looked well.

What was her secret of charm and beauty? She took as much care of the inside of her body as of her face and hands. She ate Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines. And Vitamin B to tone them up. Both aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is a good source of iron for the blood.

This delicious cereal is already cooked and krumbled. Two tablespoons daily for most types of constipation. If you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Avoid constipation. It often causes headaches, loss of pep, pimples, premature aging. Eat ALL-BRAN regularly—either as a cereal, or in cooked dishes. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

THREE CITIES VICTORIOUS IN RAIL RATE BOUT

Green Bay, Oconto and Sturgeon Bay Excluded from New Schedule

BY HUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Green Bay, Oconto, and Sturgeon Bay won out in their fight to be excluded from the new rate schedule on canned goods proposed by the railroads in a decision handed down by the Interstate Commerce commission.

Under the commission's ruling, rates from Green Bay, Oconto, and Sturgeon Bay to southern points will not be allowed to exceed rates from Milwaukee by more than five, seven and eight cents respectively.
If the railroad's proposal had been accepted, however, Green Bay canners would have had to pay 14 cents more than Milwaukee on shipments to numerous southern destinations.
As opposed to shipments from O-conto and Sturgeon Bay, however, the proposed rates were found to be justified to the extent that they do not exceed the seven-cent rates.

Oppose Schedule
Two commissioners dissented from the majority findings of the commission, however, on the grounds that the new schedule will give an unfair advantage to northern canners in competition with southern canners.

Dissenting to the Commission's report Commissioner Lee says:

"The existing rate relationship is such that southern canners are unable to compete for business in the North. At the same time canners in the North are dumping large quantities of canned goods in the South, where it might be expected that southern canners would have an advantage."

"In the face of this situation the majority approves many increases in the rates in the South and from the South to the North while making many reductions in the rates from the North to the South."

Commissioner Tate concurred with this dissenting opinion.

Brighton, N. Y.—It's bad enough to lose an election, but Fred Hoff won and can't be given the office.
Through error his name was spelled "Huf" on the ballots and now he cannot be sworn in as town constable.

Geneva, N. Y.—When a radio falls readers here blame field mice. Miss having no sense about electricity, get inside the cabinets, and the shock kills them. Radio engineers say it causes many sets hereabouts to go "dead."

YOU DON'T DRINK YOUR COFFEE BLACK!

TRY THE BLEND THAT'S TESTED FOR THE CREAM
YOU ADD

COFFEE goodness is not coffee in the container. It's not black coffee. It is coffee the way you drink it . . . with cream added!

The complete blending of coffee and cream brings you the mellow cup of satisfaction.

All coffees blend with cream.
Some, however, more smoothly and completely than others.

Coffee with too little oil fails to blend perfectly with cream. Smoothness is lacking. Mellowness missing.
Only a coffee prepared and tested for this purpose can give you the full coffee goodness in the cup!

Thomas J. Webb Coffee is blended and roasted for cup-flavor. Laboratory tests prove that every pound contains just the right amount of oil. Then, it is cream-tested. Each morning, trained experts, around a proving table, test Thomas J. Webb Coffee for smoothness—for richness —for satisfying flavor—with cream.

Try Thomas J. Webb Coffee today!

for a dainty Luncheon

There isn't a luncheon or meal where bread doesn't figure prominently in the menu. It doesn't bear a fancy French title before it, but it's there just the same — and how good it is, often is a deciding factor in how good the meal. That's why it is so essential that your bread be fresh, expertly baked and appetizing in appearance. We know that OLD HOME, MODERN MAID or LONG LOAF BREAD measures up to those requirements. Try it today. Your grocer can supply you.

1,630 TONSIL DEFECTS AMONG RURAL PUPILS

County Nurse Gives Report on Complete Physical Examinations

A long variety of ailments and many infected children were found among 5,634 rural school children given complete medical examinations last year, according to the annual report of Miss Marie Klein, county nurse.

The medical examinations were conducted by the Outagamie County Medical society and the physicians appointed to do the work were paid a certain price per hour from a county appropriation of $2,500. The doctors worked a total of 738 hours and traveled 219 miles in making the examinations.

Enlarged and infected tonsils led the list of ailments. There were 1,630 children found with this trouble. Defective teeth were the next largest ailment among the children. It was found that 1,617 children were suffering from this ailment. Other findings of the doctors were as follows: enlarged thyroids, 347; defective posture, 179; defective breathing, 150; poorly nourished, 149; enlarged cervical glands, 61; heart defects, 50; lung infections, 37; inflamed eyes, 25; and four each with running ears, skin eruptions and deformities.

A report on the findings in each case was sent to the parents. The medical group kept one copy and the county nurse received the other for her files. A large percentage of corrections have been completed, the nurse pointed out, but reports in this connection are not yet complete.

Outlines Work
In her report Miss Klein outlines briefly the work that has been done by the office since 1921 when it was established, as follows: In 1921, physical inspection of children with stress on repair and reconstruction of the physically handicapped child. In 1922 and 1923, office discontinued.

In 1924, physical inspection of children, followed up with a program of school health projects.

In 1925, continuation of previous years' work and new projects included school vaccination campaign and clinic work.

In 1926, continued projects of 1925 lessening the campaign on milk and vaccination but adding social hygiene program, health exhibits and a part time tuberculosis nurse was added through the sanatorium department.

In 1927, social hygiene was not stressed especially but the rest of the program was carried on adding the weighing and measuring of children.

In 1928, again the complete program of the previous year was carried on with an increase of communicable disease survey and goitre prevention.

In 1929, other work continued and a complete children's survey, health demonstration through plays and 4-H club work were added.

Set New Goal
In 1930, complete physical examinations for children, setting a goal for other counties of the state; home hygiene classes were started; and a health contest was conducted in the schools.

In 1931, included the following projects: Medical physical examinations, follow-up home work, goitre prevention, clinic work, disease survey, home hygiene classes, laboratory examination of water from every school well, 4-H club work, talks to school and group meetings and social work.

During the year the nurse visited 277 homes offering suggestions for health improvement. There were 44 cases carried regularly and visited at frequent intervals. There were 97 calls made for social service work; 1,432 pieces of mail were sent out; 24 meetings of various types were held; classes in home nursing for adults and school children were staged with an attendance of 1,024; 10 days are spent in clinic work during which there were 238 children examined.

LOVE'S TRIALS
Pittsburgh, Pa.—The bath of love is not one of down and roses. Clyde Kuebaugh has found. He went to see his girl friend, Margaret Ford, with his trusty hump tucked under his arm. In the parlor he played out some sweet songs to her. Daddy Ford had returned when the music started. Kuebaugh in court, charged that Daddy Ford came downstairs, embraced at his slumber being interrupted, and broke the instrument over the young swan's head.

Dreiser Meets the Judge

Theodore Dreiser, American author who visited the mine regions of Kentucky to probe conditions there, is shown above, right, as he met Circuit Judge D. C. Jones of Harlan, who recommended that the grand jury investigate stories of "misconduct" by Dreiser at Pineville. The grand jury returned an indictment in the case. Dreiser accused Judge Jones of favoring the mine owners in decisions made by him during the present trouble in Kentucky.

URGES PROTECTION OF LARGE WOODLAND AREA

Chicago—A plea for better administration of the vast area of the public domain in western states, amounting to 173,973,448 acres, in order to insure its conservation and guarantee protection of watersheds, was made by William Peterson, director of the extension department of the Utah State agricultural college, in an address before the land utilization conference here today.

Danger in the West, he declared, arises from the unregulated water shed areas.

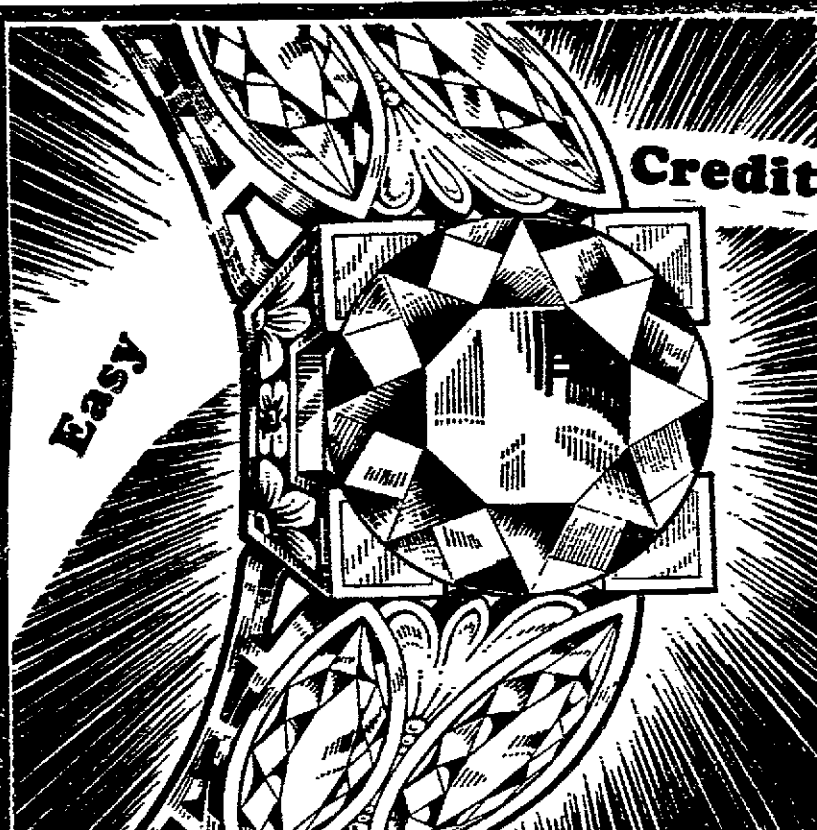

"These watersheds need definite administration protection and control, just as we would protect a reservoir that has been built at large public expense," he said. "The water-absorbing power of our watersheds in the West is the most precious reservoir, not only for future development but for protection of the investments we have of present settlement."

This problem is rendered more difficult, Mr. Peterson pointed out, because of the fact that boundaries of western states are nearly all straight lines.

TYPICALLY IRISH

Portland, Ore.—Bricks are jokingly termed the national weapons of the Irish. But when the H. V. Daugherty family had a little squabble recently, Mrs. Daugherty used another typical Irish token, the potato, as her weapon. Daugherty is suing his wife on the grounds of desertion, informed the court that she had picked up a dish of potatoes and had thrown them at him. They weren't mashed either, he added.

Prim Carnera Wins Decision; King Levinsky Gets The Cheers

BATTALINO IS K. O. WINNER OVER GRAHAM

Italian Heavyweight's Purse Attached; 20,000 See Fight

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO—(AP)—Prim Carnera today had a decision victory over King Levinsky, but it was the Kingfish who was getting all the cheers and taking all the blows.

Carnera's not very impressive showing against his comparatively tiny opponent was not the most of Carnera's troubles. As he reached his dressing room after the fight two deputies placed him under arrest in connection with a judgment for $3,754 obtained by George Blumenthal, a Fort Wayne, Ind., promoter. Unable to locate a bondman, Carnera's manager arranged for the Italian heavyweight to spend the night in his hotel room, with the representatives of the law as his roommates. A few hours before, an attachment on Carnera's purse had been served on the Chicago Stadium. Carnera was scheduled to appear in court this morning.

Kingfish Impressive
Outweighed 184 pounds, scaling a mere 124 pounds to 275 for the giant Italian, and handicapped in reach and height so that it often was necessary for him to leave his feet to land a blow to the head, the former fish peddler from Chicago's Ghetto last night put up as stirring a battle as ever has been seen in the Chicago Stadium. Tearing into the hulking Carnera was like a terrier into a Great Dane, and even attempting to wrestle with his towering adversary. Levinsky won the hearts of nearly 20,000 spectators. Even if the unanimous decision of judges and referee did go against him at the end of 10 roundings. The Kingfish, showing nothing but disdain for Carnera's size, came out firing his right arm at the start of the first round, and although leg and arm weary from the mauling and burling he had taken, was still swinging away with the same earnestness when the final bell sounded. Carnera outwitted Levinsky most of the way, and piled up points with clubbing lefts and rights, but the King's desperate—and very effective—finish, so appealed to the spectators that they booed the official verdict for several minutes.

No Knockdowns
Most of Levinsky's terrific swings landed on arms and shoulders, or high on Carnera's head, but he was the aggressor nearly all the way. There were no knockdowns and Levinsky never was in danger of being knocked out, although a sweeping right uppercut in the seventh, caused the King to retreat while he regained his bearings. In the tenth Levinsky turned loose everything he had left, driving Carnera to the ropes and banging both hands off the Italian's head. One wild swing caught Primo on the back of the head and he staggered Levinsky to him for a second.

In the semifinal, scheduled for 10 rounds, Bat Battalino, world featherweight champion, erased a recent defeat in less than one round. His opponent, Bushy Graham of Utica, N. Y., who several months ago outpointed the feather king in a non-title bout, neatly outboxed Battalino for about one minute, then the tide caught up with him, bled a right to the chin, and before Graham could fall, raked him with two terrific body punches. Graham was counted out in one minute, 44 seconds. The title was not involved. Battalino weighing 125, while Graham scaled 128, two pounds over the division limit.

The attendance was a reminder of the pre-depression era, 17,932 paid admissions grossing a gate of $82,000.

BADGERS READY FOR STAGG'S MAROONS

Nello Pacetti Expected to Get Call at Quarterback Position

Madison—(AP)—A long drill on defense brought to an end yesterday Wisconsin's practice for Coach A. A. Staggs' Chicago Maroons at Stagg Field tomorrow.

Despite numerous injured men on the Badger squad, the varsity ran through the drillings in good style in the last scrimmage of the week at Camp Randall stadium.

Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite used a number of first team players in the backfield, including Henry Pize and Paul Westcott at fullback and Paul Elliker and Carl Sanger at halfback. All are expected to share some of the playing time with the regulars who have still another foe to face after the Chicago trip—Michigan.

The team will take a light workout in Chicago late today if the weather permits. It was scheduled to leave Madison at 1:30. For the first time in several years the Badgers actually, fear the Maroons, Chicago's margin of victory over the Illini, whom the Badgers conquered by only one point, has thrown apprehension into Wisconsin and this fact, coupled with injuries, may make the game a close contest.

Notre Dame-Trojan Game Holds Grid Spotlight Tomorrow

Forward Pass Has Not Killed Rushing Plays

BY LAWRENCE PERRY
Copyright 1931

NEW YORK—(CNA)—While the gridiron advance which has been made in forward passing has certainly hurt the running game, it is not altogether accountable for the marked decline in the art of getting the ball through the line which has been one of the important characteristics of the present season.

The six-man line must bear not a little of the responsibility. It was designed—and is used—to protect chiefly against spinner plays and, also since the six forwards are pretty tightly packed, it has the effect of making the offense emphasize plays in which the runner goes wide.

The 3-2 backfield defense which many teams use in connection with the six-man line, however, does very well in handling sweeps, especially when the ends are nippy and the backs are getting into the offensive backfield. It is also about as good a defensive formation against forward passing as can be devised. It should, however, be borne in mind that when a pass is perfectly thrown and a receiver is a man who has a certain affinity with a spiraling ball—and, in addition, is a sprinter—there is no effective defense against the suddenness of a riddle shot out of the maul and grind of a play or two designed to keep the eyes of the defense on the ground and when well carried out is likely to make a touchdown from any part of the field.

Develop Running Attacks
The more successful eleven—Notre Dame, Southern California and Northwestern excluded—are the ones that have the coaches—and the material—so to build a running attack that it will be sufficiently threatening to occupy the attention of the defense to a degree where the element of surprise which will have an element of surprise which, in conjunction with perfect execution, makes a long gain or a touchdown fairly certain.

Tulane is the perfect example of such an eleven. Her running attack warrants the attention of any eleven she may meet and yet organically falls just short of touchdowns against a strong rival. On the other hand her forward passing game, what with Dabryple and Haynes, is amazingly successful. As modern football games go, Tulane is less liable to have to rely upon a single point for a victory than a team which reverses the process and employs passing merely as a cover for a running offense. As for instance, Georgia, and even more notably Northwestern. The difference here is that Georgia's running attack is less consistently formidable than Northwestern's, even granting the Georgians have a better passing game.

Irish, U. S. C. Examples
Two brilliant examples of teams that have been able to make multiple touchdowns through running are Notre Dame and Southern California. Both have passing plays, of course, but they are not—at least have not yet been—impressive. Essentially, the opening of holes by forwards, blocking out, open field interference with fast, rugged, elusive backs to carry the ball have marked the basic play of these two elevenes.

Bulwarked by a superb defense, the Irish and the Trojans have exemplified the ancient principles, the time-honored ideals of the game of football and their meeting next Saturday at South Bend will be a treat for those who love to see ball packers going to places with the wholehearted assistance of their fellows.

It takes material to develop teams able to carry the ball as Southern California and South Bend do. Not many squads in the land are so endowed with specialists. So most coaches stress forward passing and as much as they can with the rushing game—Dartmouth, for instance, And Pittsburgh. And Yale. Others try to equalize both—while lack of time usually precludes—as with Harvard and Georgia. It would seem that not even Notre Dame can in a year equalize the running and the aerial attack. But we shall have to wait a few days before deciding definitely about that.

ONE GAME LEFT IN MIDWEST LEAGUE

Monmouth Closes Conference Season Nov. 26 With Knox College

MIDWEST STANDING
	W.	L.
Ripon	3	0
Monmouth	2	0
Carleton	2	0
Cornell	2	2
Beloit	2	2
Knox	1	2
Coe	1	3
Lawrence	0	3

REMAINING GAME

Nov. 26—Monmouth at Knox. Mount Vernon—The Carleton avalanche rolled over Lawrence last Saturday for a 45 to 6 score in the second and last conference game for the Carls. After seven successive defeats this year, Coe found itself in the Knox game last Saturday. It was not until the last few seconds of play, however, that the Kohawks crossed the Siwash goal line for the lone touchdown of the game to win a 7 to 0 victory.

Monmouth was the only conference team to succeed last week against a non-conference opponent. The Scots won a 12 to 0 game over Carthage. Cornell was completely smothered by Minnesota 47 to 7. Beloit tied 6 to 6 in its last game with Lake Forest. Monmouth and Knox will play the only remaining game to affect the conference standing on Thanksgiving day. The former looks like a certain winner with a chance to share with title honors with Ripon.

JOEY BIEBL GETS DECISION OVER TRAURIC

Hank Rasmussen Winner; Rosey Rankin K. O.'ed in First Frame

BY GORDON R. MCINTYRE
JOEY BIEBL won a decision over Zep Trauric of Manitowish last night in the feature card at Oney Johnston post's amateur fight program, but Zep won many more friends hereabouts and the fans probably won't demand that Biebls be returned to the ring very soon.

Biebls won the fight, there is no doubt about that, for he scored all the heavy blows, but Zep's face up a bit and kept himself so well protected he was unmarked when the bout ended. But Joey has a habit of ducking and crouching every time someone starts after him, and he was a poor target for Zep to hit. The defensive tactics disgusted Trauric and the fans also. But it's Biebls' way of fighting so what are you going to do about it.

Rasmussen Winner
Hank Rasmussen, Appleton, won the semi-windup just before the bell ended the first round. He met Bob Worthington of Fond du Lac and the two mixed freely in the opening frame, Worthington having a bit of advantage because of his height and reach.

Just before the end of the first round Rasmussen caught Worthington in a neutral corner and delivered with both hands to the pit of the stomach. As the bell rang Rasmussen stepped back and fell to the floor, apparently in agony. His handlers carried him to his corner and announced he won't be able to answer the bell.

A charge of foul was made by the referee on his seconds, and from what we saw of the last couple blows we thought them right on the line and perfectly legal.

Elmer Zimmerman of Fond du Lac and Ed Hoerning of New London staged the best show of the evening. The bout was all the more interesting because Zimmerman was in a bad way in the second round, but managed to stick it out and go through the third thoroughly beaten but always a potential threat.

The first round was about even the boys mixing freely and each getting in a few heavy wallops. In the second round, Zimmerman, who appeared in not too good condition, tired, and Hoerning kept blasting away with everything he had. The Fondy fighter was clever enough to evade a lot of punishment, however, and although he staggered around, physically exhausted, Hoerning could not land a K. O.

In the third round the story was the same as the last minute or so of the second. Zimmerman was fighting a great defensive bout, intent on staying the limit. He did, and also managed to par Hoerning a couple times during the last seconds of the final round.

Rankin Knocked Out

Rosey Rankin, Appleton, may have had high aspirations, yesterday he had them knocked out of him in a hurry last night by Johnny Kalous, Berlin, Rankin, with rolls of fat around his stomach stepped into the middle of the ring with Kalous, trained as sleek as a champion, started like a young hurricane and hit the floor with a bang. He shook his head like a big bear and got up only to go down for keeps and out for good five minutes later.

Bobby Sailer of Fond du Lac started like a champion against Phil Dobbins in the first round and pummeled the Sawdust city boy hard as the frame opened. Then Dobbins came back and evened the count in the last half of the round. In the second Dobbins started where he left off in the first and soon had Sailer all but out on his feet. Just before the end of the round Referee Pinkey Mitchell stepped in and stopped the fight.

The heavy raiser showed Babe Murphy from over in the Fourth ward and Bob Goodrich, Appleton, a couple 120 pounds. Both boys were fighting for the first time and entertained the fans with their antics. Murphy won the first round, the second went to Goodrich but in the third Murphy scored several hard blows and dropped Goodrich. Referee Mitchell let the youngster rest because Murphy continued hitting when Goodrich was down and the boys then continued to the bell.

Frankie Mitchell was the third man in the ring and as a referee he still is a good junior welter weight. The Milwaukeean was slow to break the boys and several times we thought he'd never start counting on knockdowns. In short several of the boys got counts that would have put Dave Barry to shame.

But in all instances the long counts meant very little for the K. O.'s were K. O.'s. Pink was referee for his second amateur bout and he'll soon pick up the necessary initiative.

HOCKEY LEAGUERS PLAY FOR CHARITY

Chicago—(AP)—The National Hockey league will join the charity game movement this season. President Frank Calder has announced. Calder, in Chicago to watch the Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs Wednesday night, said National league clubs already had played several charity matches with minor league teams, and that a schedule will be arranged with the Pacific.

FIRST WARD GRIDDERS BEAT ST. JOSEPH, 6-0

The First Ward Blues defeated St. Joseph football team Thursday afternoon in a game played at First ward school. The score was 6 and 0. Bob Bailey scored the marker with a dash around left end and behind interference furnished by Hoppener. Monday, evening the teams will meet again at Jones park.

BADGERS GIVEN EVEN CHANCE TO DEFEAT CHICAGO

Loss of Blocking Backs Hurts Wisconsin's Chances Saturday

MADISON—For the first time in a number of years, Wisconsin will enter its annual football game against Chicago conceded no better than an even chance for victory.

The Maroons have been improving steadily and played by far their best game of the year last Saturday in defeating Illinois. Their offense was good for two touchdowns against the Illini where Wisconsin had been able to score but one and the Maroons came through the game without injuries.

Wisconsin, on the other hand, has been subjected to a steady toll of injuries and will enter the game Saturday without the services of four men who were regulars or due to become so when hurt. They are Goldenberg, quarter, Schiller, halfback, Strain, halfback, and Haworth end.

Loss Best Blockers

Coach Thistlethwaite has lost his best blockers in Goldenberg and Schiller, his outstanding forward passer in Strain and one of his two best ends in Haworth. His work this week will be largely the development of new men for their places and of new plays suited to the capabilities of their replacements. He believes that the Chicago game will prove one of the hardest on Wisconsin's schedule this fall.

Practice Monday amounted to little more than a limbering up drill. An all day downpour Tuesday drove coaches and players into the field house. This limited many phases of the work because of the hardness of the clay floor, so almost the entire period was devoted to offense. Representatives of the press were excluded, for the second time this fall.

Aside from the quartet of players named, who are out for the season, many other regulars are in poor physical condition and will be able to do little work this week. This list includes Captain Smith, Catlin, Kranhold and McGuire.

HEAVIES SHOW ON OSHKOSH PRO CARD

Mitz Minikel, Milwaukee, Meets Al Kubiak, Pulaski's Pride

FIGHT PROGRAM—DOUBLE WINDUP
Bobby Allen (Chicago), vs. Wilbur Chevalier (Milwaukee).
Mitz Minikel (Milwaukee), vs. Al Kubiak (Pulaski).

PRELIMINARIES
Young Shav (Oshkosh), vs. Lloyd Barker (Milwaukee).
Oscar Angela (Milwaukee), vs. Russ Russell (Stevens Point).

Oshkosh—When Mitz Minikel, the Milwaukee slugger fights here Friday night on the professional card at Armory B he will probably be performing under the scrutiny of every member of the state boxing commission.

The boxing solons ordered Minikel before them yesterday and gave him a verbal lashing for punching low in his bout last week against Robinson in Milwaukee.

It appears that of late Minikel has gotten into the habit of hitting low when he gets into a tight spot. Against a slugger like Al Kubiak, Minikel may be in several tight spots, but Minikel does not want to foul his opponent or the commission will deal with him very harshly.

The 16 round Chevalier-Allen fight is expected to be equally good if not better. It goes two rounds more than the Allen-Lombardo scrap and there should be all the more reason for one or the other to score a decisive win.

Minikel and Kubiak also fight 10 rounds, but it is doubtful if both sluggers are on their feet at the end of the fight.

Young Shav, the Oshkosh favorite, will have a battle on his hands against Barker. Barker has beaten Frankie Hughes, being one of the very few who holds a decision over the former Knosha lad.

Little Difference Seen In Major League Salaries

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright 1931

NEW YORK—(CNA)—Despite all the talk and rumors that major league owners have had a conference at which they agreed to institute a salary reduction plan for the coming season, this is not true. With the exception of the pay of waning stars and up-and-coming rookies, it is probable that little difference will be noted in the majority of major league salaries in 1932.

For two years the series of big league ball players have been based on an indirect standard, the large sum paid to Babe Ruth by the owner of the New York Yankees. The players have had less knowledge of this than the owners. The tendency on the part of the owners has been upward rather than toward a curtailment of the pay of their men. One reason for this has been the disposition to be as liberal as possible with baseball doing well, and the second reason was based mildly on the generous pay to Ruth.

Ball players, in their clanish way, are never very enthusiastic about top heavy salaries to a few players. The case of Ruth has been in rare exception, because the players subconsciously sensed the idea that as long as Ruth was highly paid, there would be a disposition on the part of owners to give all players as much as they could afford. So they have accepted Ruth's salary more graciously than they otherwise would.

When Ruth was signed to his large contract with the New York Americans, Colonel Jake Ruppert, the owner, knew that its terms would appear to be disproportionate to the general run of baseball salaries. So he called all the American owners into his counsel, placed the situation before them, and asked them to express their ideas about it. He did not wish to adopt a policy that would be disadvantageous to them. They agreed that he was right about Ruth and perhaps at that meeting a mild determination was taken to pay all players as well as possible.

The Ruth contract is to be renewed this year. Neither Ruth nor his employer has given public utterance regarding the maximum of its amount, although Ruth naturally has said he expects a large sum of money, maintaining the ground that he is still of great value to the team. It is not likely that a long term contract will be entered into. Shrewd baseball men agree that Ruth will be a valuable player in 1932, but the question is how much farther he can go after 1932. There is an impression that when he "cracks," as it is termed in baseball, it will be quick.

Ralph Wettstein, chairman of the Wisconsin Boxing commission, announced he would call a meeting at once to determine what can be done to determine who will oppose Jones in the finals for the crown relinquished by Mickey Walker. General John V. Cline, president of the National Boxing association, will be consulted in the matter.

Jones Ranked No. 1

Jones, ranked No. 1 in the N. B. A. standings, completely outboxed his southpaw opponent in all but one of their 10 rounds. In the first, the Akron Negro slipped O'Brien on the chin with a right and the Hartford fighter went down for an instant as the round ended. O'Brien was unable to penetrate Jones' defense and his punches invariably slid off Jones' gloves. In the final rounds O'Brien constantly fell into clinches.

In the ninth round, with O'Brien up against the ropes, Jones unleashed a terrific attack but the Hartford southpaw guarded himself well. O'Brien weighed 156½ and Jones 151½.

Pirpo started aggressively, swinging a right to Piazza's jaw in the second round that set the Italian down, badly dazed. He started up at the eighth count and was unsteady on his feet when the referee swung ten. In the next three rounds Piazza was unable to land on the elusive Pirpo. Pirpo entered the fight with a bad right eye and in the fifth round Piazza landed a blow which caused the optic to practically swell shut.

Throughout the remainder of the bout Pirpo was hampered by lack of vision. He appeared to be tiring in the final stages while Piazza made a comeback to gain a draw.

Chicago—Primo Carnera, Italy, outpointed King Levinsky, Chicago (10); Bat Battalino, world featherweight champion, knocked out Bushy Graham, Utica, N. Y., (1); Frankie Battaglia, Winnipeg, Man., knocked out Johnny Burns, Oakland, Cal., (1); Paulie Walker, New York, outpointed Tommy Rios, Tucson, Ariz., (8).

Northwestern, apparently back in form after its close call with Indiana, left last night for Iowa, with the idea of bettering Purdue's 22 to 0 victory over the Hawkeyes. Coach Dick Hanley decided his reserves could not handle the Hawkeyes and assigned his regulars to start the game. Purdue will send out its strongest force against Indiana, hoping to regain the old oaken bucket by wiping out last year's 7 to 6 defeat by the scrapping Hoosiers.

GOLF ASSOCIATION TO O. K. NEW BALL

New York—(AP)—The executive committee of the United States Golf association evidently has found many vexing problems with which to deal.

The committee, in quarterly session yesterday, deliberated most of the day and a good part of the night behind closed doors. Announcement was made that no statement of business transacted might be expected until today.

There seemed little doubt the committee would approve a new and heavier golf ball—1.62 ounces in weight, compared to the present 1.55, but of the same diameter. All available information indicated that the 1932 Walker cup matches, slated to be played in the United States, would be abandoned.

The high school fete fed the boys at Hotel Appleton. Speakers on the evening's program were Herbert H. Helble, high school principal and Coach Joseph Shields.

ANDERSON IS PLEASED WITH IRISH SPIRIT

Banas Regarded as Starter at Fullback; Melinkovich May Play

BY PAUL NICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind., (AP)—Notre Dame's raiders of the gridiron are ready to answer the challenge of the Trojans from Southern California.

Fired to a new high pitch and loaded with enough scoring dynamite to blow the average college eleven into the clouds, the big football army from South Bend could see nothing but a victorious battle against the western invaders tomorrow.

At no time this year has the Notre Dame squad groomed itself so grimly and seriously as it has for its famous rival from the west. In its final regulation workout, one which lasted almost four hours last night, each regular and reserve hustled as never before and Coach Hearty "Hunk" Anderson, himself, became enthusiastic over the prospect for victory in tomorrow's important game.

"Despite the injuries to Melinkovich, Koken and Pierce, the boys looked better than any time this year," he remarked. "They realize at last that we have a tough assignment ahead of us tomorrow and they are in the right mood to play real football. Maybe we'll lose but Southern Cal will know it has been in a football game."

Except for the three injured stars and Nick Lukate, who joined the injured fullback list at the start of the practice session, every regular was in splendid condition today. There was a possibility that Melinkovich might get into the game for a time anyway if the going gets too tough. Coach Anderson said he would not start the big fullback but that he might let him in to toss or catch a few passes. Koken and Pierce, however, were definitely lost for the game and undoubtedly for the rest of the season.

Banas Will Start

Steve Banas was regarded as the certain Fullback choice to start the game. He was at the post during last night's drill and displayed great form in the new plays handed out by Coach Anderson. Banas' one big difficulty has been his inability to keep on his feet but the word has spread that he'll keep them until someone sends him tomorrow.

Each game, staged on street corners led to South Bend today and the town was all decked out and ready for the crowd. Tickets were selling so briskly that only 5,000 of the 55,000 postcards were left and a sell-out crowd, the first for the new Notre Dame brick stadium, seemed certain. Hotels were all sold out while taxicab drivers were hoping for a repetition of the good old days back in 1927 when a smaller crowd, here for the Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech game, stood on street corners bidding as high as $10 for cabs to the football field.

AGAIN DEFER "Y" CAGE LEAGUE ORGANIZATION

Complete organization of the Industrial basketball league again has been deferred for a week because team representatives were not ready to say they would enter the league Wednesday night. The next and final meeting of the league will be held Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A.

Indications are there will be eight teams in the league, again this winter but the boys are slow in getting their gangs together and getting support. W. S. Ryan, physical director of the association is president of the league.

LADY with a PAST

BY HARRIET HENRY

SINOPSIS: Paris provides Venice Muir with a mysterious past. She has failed to interest New York society in herself, so now she hopes to win popularity with a fictitious reputation. Guy Bryson has introduced her to Paris. Rene de Thénardier commits suicide because of Venice, rumor says.

Chapter 27
BON VOYAGE

"NOTHING to worry about, Venice," Guy said. "She's always been fiendishly jealous. That's why I left her temporarily. Now she's heard I'm temporarily absent with some one continually she's trotted along to investigate. She doesn't even know your name." Venice sat silently thinking. It struck her as a musical comedy turn of events. Guy for whose attentions she paid, who had never even put an arm around her, was suddenly being hunted down as an unfaithful husband.

"But we had better sever our partnership," he said.

"I suppose so." She was lost again in reflections. It didn't matter. She had gathered more than enough about her to take home to rival any Ann Duryea. She smiled. "What a lot we set in motion, Guy."

"Hardly healthy, I call it," he laughed.

"It leaves me breathless," said Venice.

"It should leave you gay and assured, my girl. Go home and get that dazzling young man and the one with the nice hazel eyes. I'll look for you in the social notes."

"And you'll find me," declared Venice with vivacious determination. They were silent for a while, both seeing Venice in the future eagerly sought after, no longer seeking.

"Tell me," she suddenly said, "about you, Guy. What's going to happen between you and your wife? I told you I never dwell on the dull and sombre. I shove them from me, shrug and that's that. My wife was one of the illusions I held in my hand too long. A beautiful trifling bubble—phew, soapy water."

"One of the illusions," she suggested, "you held too roughly?"

"Perhaps."

"But what will you do now that the coffers of Venice are closed to you?"

"Go home and sell apples."

"But seriously, what will you do?"

"I never do anything seriously," he protested.

And she was never to know what became of him down the years.

The following morning Venice concluded that she might just as well return to America. She had squeezed the present dry of any juice that might be useful for the future. She took passage on the "Merveille" due to sail in two weeks.

The intervening fortnight was spent in a veritable orgy of new clothes, evening frocks cut daringly low; daytime frocks to fit her figure like a glove; hair more extreme than she had ever had before. She must be very smart for this winter of the new Venice.

Her loneliness had none of the bitter poignancy of those first few weeks in Paris. The last four months had been so crowded that her mother's death now seemed far away. Her mind nowadays had so much to play about that there was no consciousness of loneliness in her present solitude. Nolly's operation and Nolly's engagement; Rene and the rich heritage of rumor that he had bequeathed her with his abrupt demise; Guy and his wife; pictures of herself at home, Venice Muir for whom, people would believe, a dashing young Marquis had thrown himself from a window.

Guy telephoned her the day before she sailed.

Just a bon voyage, Venice. Beatrice is here at the pension with me and I wouldn't risk any unpleasant news for you by trotting down to say good-bye."

Venice knew genuine regret at the thought of not seeing him again. "How are things going, Guy?"

"Slowly, thanks." He laughed. You couldn't pierce Guy's real troubles.

There was a pause. She was suddenly consumed by a curious desire to see his wife.

"Please," she heard herself saying, "don't think I'm crazy. If I sat at the Cafe de la Paix at five wouldn't you walk by with her, Guy? I must know what she looks like."

"Funny girl. Why?"

"I don't know. But please do—as a bon voyage present."

She heard his quick, careless laugh along the wire.

"The situation holds just enough theatricalness to intrigue me. Watch for your gigolo and his wife at five."

"Oh." She was surprised at how easily he had acquiesced to her absurd proposal.

"By Venice. May New York pay eager homage to your charms this winter."

She heard the receiver click into place. They were the last words she and Guy were ever to exchange.

She set about her packing and two hours later found her at a table adjacent to the sidewalk at the Cafe de la Paix. It was an amusing and vaguely exciting episode. Her eyes, in their eager search for Guy and his wife, traversed the passersby. Was that they? No. They suddenly appeared. She was quite lovely in a new, disconcerted way. Her very red mouth dropped at the corners and her large dark eyes were lustreless and dissatisfied. One could never conceive her vivacious, and Venice wondered why Guy, the carefree, irresponsible and dabbler, had married her in the first place. There was a slow sensuousness about her, that was it. She had caught him in a net that paralyzed his senses. Curious enough. Beatrice Bryson's eyes met Venice's as she passed. It was a casual, indifferent glance.

They passed. Guy looked back over his shoulder to grin, and Venice, her gaze on their retreating forms, smiled at him. He put a finger to his hat, a small surreptitious salute, then they were lost in the throng. Venice paid for her cocktail and ran back to the Louis-Le-Grand. She hoped that Guy would telephone her again so that she could comment on her impressions, but he never did.

She caught the boat train for Boulogne late the next afternoon. As it chugged from the station excitement gripped her. Things were actually on the way towards taking definite shape.

(Copyright, Harriet Henry)

Venice tests her new amputation on her shipmates, in the next installment.

CONTRARY JAW

Los Angeles—Arturo Friberg was brought to the Georgia street hospital to have his jaw reset, that he had dislocated in yawning. Police Surgeon Casterson administered an anesthetic and set the jaw. Friberg awoke and tried it out. On of joint it hopped again. Again it was put under the anesthetic. Friberg awoke and dislocated the jaw. Five times he had the jaw set. The fifth time Casterson took a hand saw and cut the jaw so Friberg wouldn't dislocate it before it could set.

VOCAT QUINT OPENS SEASON WITH VICTORY

Defeats Wrightstown High School Basketball Team, 22-14

Kaukauna—Led by Reuter, left forward, the Green and White Kaukauna Vocational school quintet annexed its first victory of the season, defeating Wrightstown high school cagers here Thursday evening, 22 to 14. The Green and Whites took a lead in the first quarter and held it throughout the game. In the first half the Blue and Whites from down the river were held without a basket, one point being scored on a free toss.

Krautkramer gave Wrightstown the lone point in the first half as the game opened. Near the end of the quarter the Vocats worked the ball under the basket where Busse dropped the ball through the hoop to give his teammates a one point advantage. The quarter ended 2 to 1 in the local's favor.

In the second the Green and Whites found the basket for five field goals, Reuter dropping in four of the five. The other basket was scored by Haupt on a short shot. The half ended with Wrightstown on the short end of the 12 to 1 count.

Play in the third period was on even terms, each team scoring three baskets. The Blue and Whites had begun to find the basket and Pflueger scored the first field goal. Reuter tried a long shot which was good, and Zerbel followed for Wrightstown. Busse tossed one through the hoop from underneath the basket, and Krautkramer retaliated with a long field goal. Reuter scored another basket before the quarter, and the Vocats still led 18 to 7.

The Green and Whites were outplayed in the fourth quarter when the Wrightstown five found the local basket three times, sending the count 18 to 14 for the Vocats. Reuter dropped two field goals on short shots before the game ended leaving the score at 22 to 14, after Dunphy was given a free toss which was good for one point.

The lineups:

HOLD ROHAN RITES AT HOLLANDTOWN

Funeral Services Conducted Thursday Morning at Church

Kaukauna—Funeral services for Denis Rohan, who died at his home on route 4 at 1:30 Monday morning following an illness of about 12 months, were held at St. Francis Catholic church at Hollandtown at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. Mr. Rohan was born in the town of Buchanan Nov. 25, 1852. He was a resident of this vicinity for 30 years. Mr. Rohan was a member of the St. Joseph's society of the St. Francis church.

Survivors are two brothers, Thomas and Edward of Hollandtown; three sisters, Mrs. Catherine Maloney, Hollandtown; Mrs. Edward Kirchoes, Milwaukee; and Mrs. Erwin Truttschell, Sheboygan; one son, John of Milwaukee; and six grandchildren.

GRIDDERS ORGANIZE TO PLAY SHEBOYGAN

Kaukauna—Amateur football players who formed American Legion teams here will organize Sunday and hold practices for a game to be played with the city team of Sheboygan on Thanksgiving Day. A practice session will be held Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, players meeting in the locker room at the legion building. Several of the high school players who have played their last year with the high school squad will be in the lineup.

The legion started preparations for a team this year, but plans failed to materialize when several of the stars joined the Little's (Cubs) team. Little's team has disbanded and the players have decided to play with the local squad at Sheboygan. Some of the players who will see action in the game are Jack Verbeten, Ray Posson, Lloyd, Derrus, and several Appleton youths.

JUNIOR DEBATE DEFEND FRESHMEN

Kaukauna—Junior negative debate team took a 3 to 0 decision from the freshmen in the school today. Thursday evening following classes. It was one of the debates to determine the class championship. Members of the winning team were Margaret Hoffman, Margaret Volz, and Dorothy Otter; and members of the losing team were Dolores Belski, Jeanne Kalup, and Nellie Stecken. The question was "Resolved: That the several states enact a compulsory unemployment insurance law." Judges were Miss Marcella Thompson, Miss Florence Bonnell, and Miss Ann Gibbons.

ANNUAL BANQUET HELD BY AMATEUR ELEVEN

Kaukauna—Kaukauna Merchants' amateur football squad held their banquet at the home of Mrs. W. Mankosky Thursday evening. The team has a record of seven victories, one tie, and three defeats. Forced to play teams which were much heavier, the Merchants continued to win until injuries handicapped the team. Members of the squad were Hildebrandt, Fromm, Derrus, Egan, Busse, Conlon, Kuchelmeister, Rommelspacher, Segelink, R. Promer, Van Drasek, Mankosky, and Kobussen.

LEAGUE MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT

Kaukauna School Officials to Attend Gathering at Green Bay

Kaukauna—Principal Olin G. Dryer of the high school, Superintendent of public schools James F. Cavanaugh, Coach Paul E. Little, and Henry Griesbach will attend a meeting of school officials of the Northwestern Wisconsin conference in Green Bay next Tuesday evening. The meeting will open with a 6:30 dinner at Hotel Beaumont. Plans of the conference schools will be discussed.

C. F. Hedges, Neenah, is president of the association, and J. B. Layda of West DePere is secretary and treasurer. Plans for the track meet next spring will be discussed and the city to conduct the conference will be selected. Neenah is the probable choice. Formation of next year's football schedule also will be made. Officials to act in basketball games throughout the winter will be selected.

There are 15 schools in the conference, but all are not active in the schedule. A rotating schedule for football was adopted at last year's meeting and this probably will be followed again this year. Schools belonging to the conference are Neenah, Kaukauna, Menasha, Oconto, Sturgeon Bay, East DePere, Kaukauna, West DePere, Algoma, Shawano, Gillette, New London, Two Rivers, Oconto Falls, and Clintonville.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Kaukauna—The sophomores of the high school will hold their annual party in the high school building Friday evening. Games will be played and refreshments served.

Fraternal Order of Eagles met in the clubhouse on Wisconsin avenue Thursday evening. Reports of the recent membership drive were received and a chicken booyah lunch was served.

Odile chapter, Eastern Star, will give a card party at L. O. O. F. hall Saturday evening. Prizes will be awarded.

Catholic Women's Study club met in Knights of Columbus clubhouse on Wisconsin avenue Thursday evening. Routine business was conducted.

CALL GATHERING OF CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

Kaukauna—A meeting of the subcommittee conducting the drive for funds for relief work has been called by chairman of the executive committee, Arthur M. Schmalz. The meeting will be held at 7 o'clock Monday evening in the council chambers of the municipal building. Reports of the various committees will be heard and several questions will be discussed. The drive for funds is to be completed Thanksgiving Day. According to the plan the money will be loaned out next winter to the needy. In this way a permanent fund is expected to be created.

The money, which will be distributed on the loan plan, will be meted out by a finance committee composed of Hugo Welfenbach, Charles D. Towler, W. F. Ash, E. J. Brewster, and Earnest Landreman.

75 ENROLLED SO FAR IN RED CROSS CHAPTER

Kaukauna—Seventy-five members have been enrolled so far in the Red Cross. Enrollments started this week with the arrival of supplies for the drive. The campaign is being conducted by the Kaukauna Woman's club with Mrs. Frances W. Grogan as chairman. A house to house canvass will be made before the campaign closes on Thanksgiving Day. About 350 persons are expected to enroll. The fee is $1 per year, half of the money going to the national organization for their relief work, and the remaining half to the local organization's work.

CONSTRUCT NEW SEWER ALONG EAST DODGE-ST

Kaukauna—Workers of the south road district are constructing a sewer on East Dodge-st to replace a sewer that became blocked by stone and other debris. The sewer, about 250 long, will be completed Friday. Work was started last Monday morning under direction of Joseph Kuehn, south road commissioner.

SHIPPING GROUP TO HOLD POULTRY FAIR

Kaukauna—Kaukauna Farmers Shipping association will hold a poultry fair here Saturday in preparation for Thanksgiving. Turkeys, ducks, geese, and chickens will be sold. The farmers decided to hold the fair at a meeting last Saturday evening. William Heintz, secretary, is in charge of arrangements.

CITY LEAGUE BOWLERS ROLL NEXT MONDAY

Kaukauna—City league bowlers will roll on Hillenberg avenue Monday evening. Kaukauna Lumber Co. bowlers meet the Bankers' and Mueller Boats oppose Bayvorgeon's Meats at 7 o'clock. At 9 o'clock the league leading Kalupa Bakers defend their position against Mulford's while Combined Locks engage the U. S. Engineers.

Plumpness No Longer Drawback In Hollywood

BY JESSIE HENDERSON (Copyright 1931 by Cons. Press)

Hollywood—(CPA)—Goody, goody, no more vigorous dieting, no more boyish figures; the plump 'uns are coming back in the movies. Mack Sennett says so and who should know better than the original founder and presenter of the bathing girl? "Though Ziegfeld has come out in favor of curves on the stage, Sennett is the first of the motion picture producers to predict rapturous roundity for the screen. "Like it or not," remarked Sennett today, obviously disliking it one bit himself, "the straight up-and-down boyish figure is a bygone so far as the movies are concerned. I don't say it will never return but I do say that now it is out. At this studio, for example, we wouldn't at present hire any actress of the boyish, anaemic type. There's nothing about her to catch and hold the eye of the 1931-32 audience. "And you needn't praise or blame the motion picture industry for this change of—ah—front. The motion picture industry follows the trend of the times in these matters. "Tired of Lines "The truth is that men and also women grew tired of straight lines. Fashions indicate this fact. Every one knows that fashions right now are emphasizing womanly curves. "Behind the change in fashions and the consequent change in women's figures there lies a biological fact. You can't take too many liberties with father nature. "Father nature?" you inquired. How about mother nature? "Well, I'm regarding these things from the man's point of view," Sennett explained. "The boyish figure wasn't feminine. Yet nature—father or mother as you please—intended women to look feminine. When women tried to look like boys, and succeeded—because a woman can do anything she sets out to do—here's what happened. Many a woman died so hard that she wasn't a competent mother. She didn't even look as though she could be a competent mother. Physicians will tell you that the normal woman needs a certain amount of flesh—that's a law of nature. "And you know what I believe? I believe that with the return to normal roundity there will be a return to larger families. The world is settling down after its post-war rampage and getting more normal anyhow. One indication of this is that from now on the word starve will have any connection with the word starvation. Elephants aside, you may expect big things hereafter from Hollywood."

Kaukauna—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kuehn, 129 West Fifth-st, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday. Mr. Kuehn has been south road commissioner for 15 years. The couple was married at Woodville, near St. John, Nov. 22, 1881. After reading on a farm, three for nine years, they moved to Kaukauna. Mr. Kuehn then entered the dry and hauling business, using a team of horses as a wagon. During the administration of Charles Raught, who was mayor of Kaukauna at the time, he was appointed to his present office as south road commissioner. This was in 1927. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kuehn are enjoying good health. There are five children: two sons, Joseph, at Rhineland, and John, at Kaukauna; three daughters, Mrs. R. H. Matzger, Kaukauna; Mrs. Frank Pfister, Racine; and Mrs. Charles Phillips of Kaukauna. Mr. and Mrs. Kuehn will spend Sunday at home.

Present Fall Claimed Best In 50 Years

BY W. F. WINSEY

Green Bay—Farmers who have been engaged in agriculture for the past 50 years, never saw a fall equal to this one as far as growing pasture and hay are concerned, and such ideal weather for doing farm work.

Although it is only one week before Thanksgiving, these farmers point to cutting of alfalfa, cattle pasturing on timothy alfalfa, volunteer crops of oats and barley grown to full height and loaded with grain pasturing on such permanent pastures—cabbage, clover and alfalfa—harvested before a frost, and the weather is so ideal that a second crop of wild mustard either in full blossom in the fields or ripe, and growing still in progress and nearly ready to cut.

The whole face of nature in the country looks as if Wisconsin by means of rains and better weather were trying to give the farmers and farm owners a dry spell and brooks for summer and a distressing shortage of feed from early spring until the first of winter in a test.

Through the month of October, farm crops have been doing for a while, and the weather has been so ideal that the farmers have been able to get in a second crop of wild mustard either in full blossom in the fields or ripe, and growing still in progress and nearly ready to cut.

Each farmer has a field of fields in which a second crop of feed is being raised, and the farmers are feeling good about it.

JUNIOR GIRL SCOUTS ORGANIZE SATURDAY

Brownie girls of the organization of Girl Scouts will be organized in a pack at the Appleton Woman's club at the Appleton Woman's club.

Miss Beth Petter, first class scout formerly of Janesville, and Miss Florence Marcell, Lawrence college graduate, will have charge of the pack. The girls have a different program from the Girl Scouts, according to Miss Dorothy Cainin, local scout director who is sponsoring the Brownie movement. The group is open to girls from the ages of seven to ten and their activities center in projects suitable for younger children. Miss Cainin already has established one pack which meets at 1:30 Saturday afternoons at Columbia hall.

REAL Doctor's Remedy safest aid to bowels

A DOCTOR knows the best and safest way to stimulate the bowels when bad breath, coated tongue, sluggishness, or a bilious, headachy, glassy condition shows they are lacking. There could be no better proof of this assertion than the overwhelming sales and popularity of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Syrup Pepsin is a doctor's prescription for the bowels—made by the same formula Dr. Caldwell wrote and prescribed over and over during his forty-seven years of practice. He tested its gentle action with women, older people, babies, and children, and found that it does not give rise to any of the usual griping, cramping or any discomfort. He proved its action thorough, complete, with the most robust men. Then as its pleasant taste and perfect action caused it to grow in popularity, he permitted it to be bottled and kept by druggists everywhere, ready for use. Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist today. Then, next time you or any of your family feel the need of a bowel cleansing, you will have a doctor's choice of what is best.

"SHOP, MAIL EARLY" IS SLOGAN OF U. S. POSTAL DEPARTMENT

Ask Public to Cooperate to Relieve Congestion at Postoffices

Shop and Mail Early is the slogan being used again this year by the U. S. Postal Department, according to word received here by Postmaster Emery Greunke.

During the Christmas season, the volume of mail increases approximately 200 per cent, and it is a physical impossibility to handle that great mass of mail matter efficiently and promptly within a few days, it is pointed out.

To assure delivery of Christmas presents, cards and letters by Christmas day, the public should make every effort to get its shopping and mailing finished early, the department urges.

"Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts, greetings and letters to friends and relatives at least a week or 10 days before Christmas, according to distance," Mr. Greunke says.

The use of a special-delivery stamp will assure delivery on Christmas day, if mailed at the proper time, the department points out. Special-delivery service means the most expeditious handling and transportation of parcels practicable, as well as immediate delivery at the office of address, it was stated.

Uninsured parcels, eight ounces or less in weight, may be mailed in street letter or package boxes at all classified stations and branches and at such numbered stations as are designated to receive parcels.

Parcels weighing over eight ounces can not be mailed in street boxes, but must be taken to the main post office or classified station or branch. Parcels containing meat, food products, cut flowers or other perishable matter should be mailed only at the main postoffice or one of the large classified stations, the department advises.

Your Birthday

"SCORPIO"

If November 21st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:15 p. m. and from 10:30 p. m. to 11:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:50 a. m. to 10 a. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m.

The planetary aspects for November 21st will bring about a change of existing plans. A decided improvement in your worldly standing or prestige is shown. All goes well in friendships and love affairs. The day will end with a general feeling of well being.

The child born on this November 21st will be active in body and fond of physical exercise and sports. It will have a kindly goodhumored disposition and will readily make friends. The planetary aspects at time of its birth decidedly favor mechanical ability, and success is promised in life in this direction.

You have very critical and discriminating tendencies, if born on a November 21st. You have extravagant tastes and are only satisfied with the best of everything. Your ambitions will not remain mere dreams for you are a worker, a schemer and a sacrificer. You are too ambitious to permit sentiment to play much part in your life, and you are rather ruthless when fighting for your own interests or for those who are dear to you. Your affections are centered upon your family and a very few friends; to the rest of the world, you are coldly indifferent. You often have to pay the price of being a poor mixer, for your unfriendly attitude often turns a would be benefactor into an enemy.

Contentment will never be one of life's blessings to you. It is the fight of achieving not the achieved, which makes the appeal. If the time ever comes when you cannot be in the thick of things, you will be unhappy and restless. You love power, you do not love things. You are fitted for occupations where good judgment is required, for your judgment is usually unbiased and carefully weighed. The legal profession would be a splendid field for you to enter.

Your paternal or maternal instincts are not pronounced and children will not appeal to you until you have some of your own. As a parent, you will be dominating and protective and you will try to keep your offspring tied to your apron strings.

Successful People Born November 21st:

- 1—Emperor Frederick of Germany.
- 2—Henry Green—financier.
- 3—Popo Benedict XV.
- 4—William Henry Murray (Ambassador)—Congressman.
- 5—Mary Johnston—novelist.

PLAN CLINTONVILLE SCOUT CONFERENCE

A leadership training course now being conducted for valley council boy scout leaders is to be offered to leaders of troops of Clintonville, Marion and New Hope. It was announced this morning by M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. The conference theme is "Principles of Scoutmastership."

The first meeting is scheduled for 7:30 next Tuesday evening at the city hall in Clintonville. The group of approximately 20 scout leaders will meet once a week on Tuesday evenings for a period of five weeks. At the close of the conference the Clintonville group will join in the Appleton weekend hike to Camp Chocoma on Lake Winnebago. Herb Heig, director of Appleton vocational school, and chairman of the leadership training committee, and Mr. Clark will attend the Clintonville sessions.

Fish Fry, Fri. night. Chicken Lunch, Sat. night at Eichinger's, 2nd St., Kaukauna.
